New Madrid Miss American Legion

Tax cut may be in order, joint committee says

WASHINGTON (AP) — With the government reporting a 10.7 per cent jump last year in the number of persons who are poor by its standards, Democrats and Republicans on the Joint Economic Committee of Congress agree another tax cut may be in order next year to spur the economy.

The yearly increase in the number of persons living in poverty was the second in a row and brought the total to 25.9 million persons, roughly one American in eight.

The Census Bureau blamed the increase in 1975 to the whipsaw effect of high inflation in the midst of recession, together with the widespread exhaustion of unemployment benefits last year.

At the same time, the report said that despite an $818 increase in median family income to $13,720 a year, inflation dragged the buying power of that income down 2.6 per cent, the lowest level in five years.

The government defines the poverty level as $5,500 for a nonfarm family of four.

The Census Bureau report was described today by Democratic presidential candidate Jimmy Carter as a clear "indictment of economic mismangement" by the Ford administration.

In remarks prepared for delivery to a group of labor leaders meeting in Portland, Ore., Carter said: "Mr. Nixon and Mr. Ford have made these people poorer in the same way that Mr. Hoover made people poorer in the 1930s — by denying them the chance to work.

"The Republicans pay lip service to work but they veto bills that would create jobs. They have become a party not of work but of welfare."

The poverty level is determined by computing the cost of a basic nutritionally adequate diet and multiplying that by three, based on the finding that poor people spend one-third of their income on food.

Of the families below the poverty level, 68.7 per cent were white, 47.5 per cent were in families headed by women and 95 per cent lived in nonfarm communities.

On the question of future tax reductions, although Republicans and Democrats on the panel agreed that further cuts may be needed, they differed on the role that federal spending should play.

Democrats, headed by Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey, D-Minn., chairman of the committee, said that holding spending at current levels would restrict economic growth. But Republican members said spending above current levels would destroy the private sector's ability to create new jobs.

There also was this economic news:

—The Council on Wage and Price Stability, the government's inflation monitor, said that aluminum prices remained up during the recession despite market forces that normally would push prices down.

—No progress was reported in bargaining between the United Auto Workers and Ford Motor Co. The union walked out 13 days ago and both sides are said to be divided on several major issues, including wages, pensions and health care.

Congressmen trying to end business Saturday

WASHINGTON (AP) — With senators and congressmen anxious to get on with the business of campaigning, the 94th Congress hopes to complete its major legislative business by Saturday night.

Unfinished business includes bills dealing with the Arab boycott, Washington lobbyists, clean air, offshore oil leases, revenue-sharing and possibly two more vetoes from President Ford.

The House was scheduled to start off today with a $5.1-billion foreign aid appropriation bill and the Senate was still considering a controversial civil rights enforcement bill.

House and Senate leaders say they would like to finish up and go out of business Friday night but that the House may have to stay until Saturday night.

All 435 House seats and 33 of the 100 Senate seats are up for re-election Nov. 2.

Democratic Whip Robert Byrd, D-W.Va., told the Senate that on top of everything else there will be congressional override votes if President Ford vetoes the $56-billion Labor-Health, Education and Welfare department appropriation bill and an antitrust bill.

House-Senate conferees expect to agree on a bill to impose a stiff ban against U.S. participation in the Arab boycott. The House bill would go beyond that and prohibit U.S. companies from boycotting Israel.

Opponents and some supporters say the Arab boycott bill will jeopardize some of the estimated $7-billion U.S. trade with Arab countries and therefore put some Americans out of work.

Another conference committee is deadlocked on the clean air bill. The clean air bill among other things would impose automobile exhaust standards on manufacturers.

There is some doubt that conferees can reach any agreement on the bill, but more and more House conferees say they might give in and accept the stricter Senate bill.

The House is to act on a bill Tuesday to manage oil drilling off all U.S. coasts and send it to the Senate for Congress' final action.

Then the House is to take up a bill to require public disclosure of Washington lobbyists' activities. A compromise would have to be worked out later with a Senate bill.

Two other major unfinished bills would extend sharing of federal revenues with the states and stiffen grain inspection standards in the wake of inspection scandals in New Orleans and Houston.

Another bill added to the list Friday by the Senate Foreign Relations Committee would veto a $30-million sale of Maverick missiles to Saudi Arabia. This is part of a proposed $5-billion U.S. arms sale to Persian Gulf countries.

Sen. Clifford Case, R-N.J., who proposed the disapproval resolution on the Saudi Arabia missiles, said the missiles would tend to destabilize the Middle East balance of power.

Injunction bars Grimm from hearing petition

The Missouri Court of Appeals, Springfield District, has issued a permanent injunction against Judge Stanley Grimm, circuit judge of the 32nd Judicial Circuit, hearing a petition seeking a recount in the Aug. 3 primary election contest for 33rd Judicial Circuit judge between incumbent Judge Marshall Craig and challenger Tony Heckemeyer, both of Sikeston.

The petition of primary election contest was filed Aug. 13 in Scott County Circuit Court by Heckemeyer, who trailed Craig by 12 votes after the canvass of votes in the Aug. 3 primary election was completed.

In a preliminary hearing Aug. 17, Judge Grimm had set Sept. 4 to hear the case.

However, on Aug. 30, Craig filed a petition in the Missouri Court of Appeals for a writ to prohibit Grimm from hearing the petition.

At that time, the Court of Appeals issued a temporary writ prohibiting Judge Grimm from hearing the case until a final decision could be made by the Court of Appeals. The ruling was handed down Friday.

When contacted this morning, Heckemeyer said his attorneys would go to Jefferson City today to seek further action by the Missouri Supreme Court.

3 hung by Syrians after hotel raid

DAMASCUS, Syria (AP) — The Syrian government hanged three pro-Palestinian guerrillas at dawn today in swift retribution for a bloody raid on a Damascus hotel just 24 hours earlier.

A fourth guerrilla and four hostages were killed and 34 hostages were wounded in a seven-hour battle for the Semiramis Hotel in the most daring Palestinian attack yet in Syria.

The three surviving terrorists were hanged in a public square facing the luxury hotel. Their bodies, clad only in white tunics, were left dangling in nooses for six hours as thousands of Syrians pressed around the gallows and climbed to balconies and rooftops to see the victims.

The guerrillas called themselves the "Black June" group and apparently were protesting Syria's military intervention that began last June in the Lebanese civil war.

Before they were executed, the three went on Syrian state television and said they belonged to Al Fatah, the biggest Palestinian guerrilla group. They also said they had been trained in Iraq, which has supported radical Arab organ-

Television among items stolen

A color television set, several guns and a man's suit were reported stolen over the weekend, according to Department of Public Safety officials.

Richard James, 1010 Maude St., reported Friday that a color television set valued at $200 was taken from his home between 8 a.m. and 2 p.m. Friday.

Officers said the home was entered by breaking through the back door.

The theft of 15 handguns and three shotguns from the TG&Y Family Center at Kingsway Mall was reported Friday by store manager Gary DeWitt. DeWitt told public safety officers the total value of the guns was $1,700.44 and that they were missing from a gun case, which had not been broken to open. The theft was discovered during a routine check at the store.

Louis Wiggins, 17, of 1508 W. North St. was arrested for stealing over $50 in connection with the theft Friday of a $100 men's suit from Graber's Store at Kingsway Mall.

Three sales clerks saw a young man take the suit into a restroom. He then came out of the restroom without the suit and left the store.

The suit was recovered from the rest room Wiggins was later identified by a witness as the person who had taken the suit, and was arrested by public safety officers.

Police investigate attempted burglary

CHARLESTON — Police are investigating an attempted burglary, a report of a stolen car, a citizens band radio theft and a vandalism incident reported over the weekend.

Joe O'Neal, co-woner of O'Neal and Howard Pharmacy, 406 S. Main St., reported at 8:01 a.m. today an attempt had been made to enter the pharmacy sometime between 6 p.m. Saturday and this morning.

A back door on the northeast side of the building was damaged during the attempted breakin.

Mina Mefford reported her car was stolen sometime between 6 and 9 a.m. Saturday from 1224 Charleston Ave.

The car, a white 1973 Ford LTD with Kentucky license DDV-070 was unlocked, but the keys were not in the ignition.

Raleigh Cox, owner of Economy Furniture, 209 W. Commercial St., reported to police at 10:50 a.m. Sunday that a window in his store had been broken sometime between 5:30 p.m. Saturday and Sunday morning, apparently by a bottle found lying on the sidewalk in front of the store.

A citizens band radio valued at $59.95 was stolen between 6:55 and 8:45 p.m. Sunday from an automobile owned by Herschel Eaker of 609 S. Ninth St.

The locked car was parked in front of the Assembly of God Church on South Main Street when the theft occurred.

3 injured in area traffic accidents

Three persons were injured in two area traffic accidents Saturday and Sunday, the highway patrol reported today.

Two persons were injured in a two-car collision Saturday at 11:35 p.m. on Highway 160 three and a half miles east of Doniphan in Ripley County.

The patrol said the accident occurred when an eastbound car driven by Richard Lee Allen, 21, of Doniphan stopped to pick up a hitchhiker and was struck from behind by another car being driven east by Robert Worley Johnson, 35, of Anderson, S.C. The Allen car burned after impact.

Wendell Warren, 22, of Doniphan, a passenger in the Allen car, suffered moderate injuries and Johnson received minor injuries. Both were taken to Ripley County Hospital in Doniphan.

A one-vehicle accident at 8 p.m. Sunday on Mount Pisgah Road eight miles south of Fredericktown caused minor injuries to one person.

The patrol said Kenneth E. Ham, 17, of Fredericktown lost control of his westbound car on loose gravel and the vehicle ran off the road and struck a tree. Robin R. Boyer, 16, of Fredericktown, a passenger, received minor injuries and was taken to Madison County Memorial Hospital in Fredericktown.

Officer injured in fight in East Prairie parking lot

EAST PRAIRIE— A disturbance and altercation with police officers early Saturday morning at a downtown parking lot resulted in the arrest of seven persons and the issuance of warrants for two others, according to Mississippi County Sheriff W. J. "Pedro"sSimmons.

Charges of peace disturbance, interfering with a police officer, resisting arrest and assaulting a police officer were filed against Roy Presson Mannon, 29, of East Prairie, who is being held in Mississippi County jail at Charleston under $2,000 bond.

Charged with peace disturbance and interfering with police are Ricky Joe Abernathy, 18, Steve Monroe Norman, 17, Paul D. Summerfield, 22, and Ricky Pickett, 19, of East Prairie, Sammy Dale Morgan, 19, of Charleston and Sandra Louise Delashmet, 19, of Charleston Route Two. All were being held in Mississippi County jail this morning under $1,000 bond each.

Warrants have been issued for the arrest of George Mannon and Tim Brown of East Prairie.

The incident reportedly occurred about 2:40 a.m. Saturday at the Checkerboard Square parking lot when a group of young people gathered on the lot and created a disturbance by making loud noise and using obscene language.

The group estimated at 25-30 presons failed to disperse upon the request of police, and off-duty officers and the highway patrol were called for assistance.

East Prairie Police Sgt. Bill Grissom was reportedly struck in the face with an object by Roy Mannon as the officer placed him under arrest and was attempting to put him in the police car.

Grissom was taken to Missouri Delta Community Hospital at Sikeston for treatment of facial cuts which required a number of stitches to close.

During the altercation, Deputy Sheriff Dennis Turley was reportedly hit over the head with a bottle, but he did not seek medical treatment.

According to a statement by Grissom, the other persons arrested began to interfere as officers were struggling with Mannon attempting to get him into the police car. Mannon allegedly kicked the right rear window out of the car after he was put inside.

Mannon's brother, George, is also accused of striking Grissom in the face with his fists. He reportedly fled the scene when the highway patrol arrived.

Those arrestted are scheduled to appear Thursday in Magistrate Court.

Shuffit charged in shooting

NEW MADRID — A charge of felonious assault with a dangerous and deadly weapon has been filed in New Madrid County Magistrate Court against J. W. Shuffit, 51, of Canalou, who is accused of shooting his father-in-law, William Bishop, 57, of Canalou.

The shooting occurred about noon Friday at a house one mile northeast of Canalou, where the men had gone to unload some furniture they had moved from Benton.

Bishop was shot in the left side of the head with a .32- caliber revolver. He is in fair condition at Missouri Delta Community Hospital in Sikeston, according to New Madrid County Deputy Sheriff willis "Bo" Wingo, who said the bullet passed through the bridge of Bishop's nose and exited on the right side.

Reportedly, the men had been drinking and became involved in an argument while sitting in the truck at the house. Bishop told officers that when Shuffit threatened him, he got out of the truck to go inside the house. As he was standing on the porch getting a key out of his pocket, he said Shuffit came up on the porch and shot him.

Shuffit has been released under $5,000 bond.

UNCLE SAM'S UNEMPLOYMENT PROGRAM

A sad story of how a bungling federal government bureaucracy put one small businessman out of business is retold by Rep. John H. Rousselot (R-Calif.) in the September issue of "Congress Today!" — published by the National Republican Congressional Committee.

Ed Sohmers was head of Marlin Toy Products, Inc. of Wisconsin. In November 1972 the U.S. Food and Drug Administration notified Marlin that a toy it manufactured was deemed unsafe. The toy, which had been made by Marlin for 10 years with no safety complaints, was a plastic ball filled with colored pellets. FDA contended a child could swallow the pellets if the ball broke.

Mr. Sohmers dutifully recalled the toy at a cost of $95,000 and removed the pellets. So far, so good.

Then, in 1973 as Mr. Sohmers and his 85 employees — many of whom were handicapped — were producing the plastic ball and other toys for the holiday season that year, FDA relinquished its toy safety role to a new federal agency, the Consumer Product Safety Commission.

"In the process," related Rousselot, "some of the paperwork on the Marlin plastic toy went astray. Shortly thereafter, the Commission published a banned products list and sure enough, the Marlin plastic toy was on the list."

Some 250,000 copies of the list were sent by the Commission to thousands of toy shops. And the agency refused to recall them even after the disastrous error was called to its attention by Marlin. The incorrect list caused toy cancellations throughout the country, leading to a $1.2 million loss for Marlin which had to lay off all but 10 of its 85 workers.

Marlin is now out of the toy business, thanks to Uncle Sam's own patented unemployment program. Which brings to mind this quote from Ronald Reagan: "Too many people have lost their capacity to get angry at government. It should be restored."

IT'S EQUAL, BUT IS IT SPORTS?

The Ohio High School Athletic Association seems to have the ridiculous notion that there are physical differences between boys and girls.

It has a rule, anyway, that forbids girls to play on boys' teams in contact sports, such as football and basketball. Schools belonging to the association, which includes all of the public high schools and most of the junior high schools in the state, as well as the majority of private secondary schools, have to abide by it if they want to compete in sanctioned interscholastic games.

The superintendent and board of education of the Yellow Springs, Ohio, school system have taken the matter to U.S. District Court in Dayton and are suing to have the rule declared unconstitutional. They contend that by forcing them to discriminate in sports on the basis of sex, the rule puts them in violation of guidelines set by the U.S. Department of Health, Education and Welfare.

What the plaintiffs are apparently most concerned about, however, is not the question of an equal break for girls but the possibility that the violation could cause them to lose thousands of dollars in federal aid they now receive.

The Ohio High School Athletic Association counters that the rule was actually designed to insure girls an opportunity to play sports. Possessed as it is with the idea that girls are not, on the average, as big and strong and fast as boys, it argues that few girls would qualify for boys' teams, but more girls would be able to play sports if all-girl teams were available.

It also suggests that this sexual equality thing can work two ways.

"What happens," asks association commissioner Harold A. Meyer, "if seven or eight boys cut from the boys' basketball team decide they want to be on the girls' team? You laugh, but in Illinois in 1965, the Dixon High School bowling team came to the girls' statewide tournament with four boys and one girl and proceeded to win the tournament."

We aren't laughing. Believe us, we aren't laughing.

CHEWING'S LESS HAZARDOUS?

New hope for people who want to kick the cigarette habit is reported from England. Doctors at the Addiction Research Institute at London's Maudsley Hospital have been testing "nicotine gum" to help wean people off the weed.

Since nicotine is apparently the source of the stimulus smokers get from tobacco, by chewing the gum they can satisfy their craving without the other hazards of smoking, such as tar and carbon monoxide.

Nicotine even in gum form is still a poison, however, and the gum is intended only as a temporary substitute for tobacco to tide smokers over their withdrawal problems. Eventually the gum has to be given up, too, but the fact that it tastes lousy is a big help.

The experiment has been quite successful, says the Institute. About 40 per cent of the smokers who have used the gum have remained nonsmokers for at least a year. The unusual success rate among smokers receiving only psychological treatment is less than 5 per cent.

ALARMING SOLUTION TO FALSE ALARMS

Everybody likes to see fire engines racing down the street, their sirens wailing. Some people like it so much that they turn in alarms just for fun.

False alarms have become such a problem in some communities, in fact, that a number of them have simply resorted to removing alarm boxes from the streets. One of them is Oakland, Calif., whose experience seems to be typical of cities its size.

In fiscal 1973-74, Oakland recorded 10,477 false alarms. Even figuring a very low $7 cost for each response for fuel consumed and wear and tear on equipment, these false alarms cost the city's taxpayers more than $73,000. This is not to consider the unnecessary risk to life and limb.

In an article in "Fire Command!", a publication of the National Fire Protection Association, battalion chief Hannes M. Andersen relates how Oakland tried all kinds of ideas to stop false alarms—cameras, dye and stinkum on street boxes, stake-outs, school programs and informational bulletins distributed door-to-door.

Some of them helped a little, but others actually made the problem worse by reminding potential offenders that street boxes existed and could be used as toys.

The Oakland Fire Department then contacted other cities to see what they had done. Of 51 cities, 37 indicated that they had a false alarm problem, and of these, 33 had removed some or all of their boxes.

Oakland eventually removed 87 of its most troublesome boxes, and even though false-alarm culprits are still playing games, the city does not plan to remove nonoffending boxes or those causing a "liveable" level of false alarms.

Within the next two years, however, an automated 911 telephone system will go into service in the greater Oakland area. When the 911 system is fully operative, says Andersen, "Oakland intends to take a hard look at its remaining street boxes."

TIME TO STAND UNITED

Missouri Democrats could help their own cause by making an early decision on the U.S. Senate nomination. Personally we favor former Governor Warren Hearnes because he was the second best vote getter and has actively campaigned for the job. The other possibilities so far mentioned were not active candidates and have put forth no effort to see the job. Democratic big-wigs state that Hearnes can't beat John Danforth, but they can't be sure until Hearnes runs the race. It's a lead-pipe cinch that the other candidates can't do any better. Hearnes can beat John Danforth and Joe Teasdale can beat Kit Bond if the Democrats will stand together once again and back their candidates. We feel Jerry Litton would want his supporters and his backers to stay with the party and elect the candidate chosen to replace him. Regardless of who is the candidate for the U.S. Senate from Missouri, you can bet they have studies and taken heed from the way Jerry Litton promised to let the people know where he stands and to bring the government to the people. people. Litton knew that it would take a united effort on the part of the Democrats to put him in the Senate in November and he united the party. Lets keep it united and accept without question the decision of the State Committee. Remember the famous statement? United we stand, divided we fall.....If ever we needed to stand together, it is now!

'I DIG YOU— FOR NOW'

National Geographic News Feature

Proud parents won't be the only ones watching brides march down the aisle. Clergymen, society editors, etiquette experts, poll takers, wedding shop owners, and other students of the passing parade will be watching, perhaps more sharp-eyed than ever before. They'll be looking for changes in how Americans get married and how they feel about weddings.

One key question: Are weddings going out of style—traditional Here-Comes-the Bride weddings with white gowns, formal invitations, ritualized "I dos," rice-throwing, fits, honeymoons, and a big bill at the end for the father of the bride? "Do-your-own-thing" weddings of the counter-culture generation have challenged rigid tradition and nobody yet knows whether these informal ceremonies have cooled off in popularity the way political activism has on campuses and in inner cities.

"The Bride Wore Bare Feet and Bell Bottoms" read one headline on a story of an open-air countryside wedding. The newlyweds made up their own ceremony:

I, John, take thee, Mary, to be my woman, to work for the liberation of all people, to love, embrace, to commit ourselves to do battle through the journey which is the celebration of life." Often eliminated is any traditional reference to the bride "obeying" her husband, and "until death do us part" might become "as long as we both shall love,' adding the "relevance" the couple feels is now missing.

According to one estimate, 80 to 90 per cent of weddings in the United States remain traditional, usually in houses of worship. America's wedding business exceeds 7 billion dollars a year.

Besides new words and untraditional music for ceremonies, couples may now draw up formal contracts agreeing on who is responsible for what household duties, on how to rear their children—even on who gets what in case of divorce. Some think marriage agreements also should decide whether the wife should be paid for washing dishes and wiping runny noses, and whether the husband should be paid for mowing the lawn and washing the car.

So far, the father of the bride still has exclusive rights on paying for the wedding, unless he can talk his daughter into eloping.

Here's a quiz to test your knowledge. Choose the right answer to each question

1. How many Presidents has the United States had? (a) 33; (b) 38; (c) 43.

2. Which was the youngest at the time of his inauguration? (a) John F. Kennedy; (b) John Quincy Adams; (c) Theodore Roosevelt.

3. Which was the oldest at the time of his inauguration? (a) William Henry Harrison; (b) Harry S. Truman; (c) Andrew Jackson.

4. Which state is the birthplace of eight Presidents? (a) Connecticut; (b) Virginia; (c) New York.

5. How many Presidents have been assassinated in office? (a) 2; (b) 4; (c) 6.

6. Who was the only bachelor President? (a) James Buchanan; (b) Thomas Jefferson; (c) Martin Van Buren.

7. Who was the only President elected twice without succeeding himself? (a) George Washington; (b) Grover Cleveland; (c) Woodrow Wilson.

8. Which President served the shortest term in office? (a) William Henry Harrison; (b) Richard M. Nixon; (c) James Garfield.

9. Which two Presidents lived the longest? (a) Harry S. Truman and Dwight D. Eisenhower; (b) Thomas Jefferson and John Quincy Adams; (c) John Adams and Herbert Hoover.

10. Which of the following Presidents is not buried in Arlington National Cemetery? (a) John F. Kennedy; (b) Woodrow Wilson; (c) William Howard Taft.

I'd rather see a sermon than hear one any day.

I'd rather one should walk with me than merely show the way.

The eye's a better pupil and more willing than the ear;

Fine counsel is confusing, but example's always clear;

And the best of all the preachers are the men who live their creeds,

For to see the good in action is what everybody needs.

I can soon learn how to do it if you'll let me see it done.

I can watch your hands in action, but your tongue too fast may run.

And the lectures you deliver may be very wise and true;

But I'd rather get my lesson by observing what you do.

INVESTIGATING THE MARINES

The U.S. Marine Corps was never intended to be a country club, but neither was it supposed to be a chamber of horrors. And yet, despite the periodic promises of reform, the abuse of recruits at the Corps' Parris Island and San Diego boot camps seems to continue.

One of the most brutal and inexcusable incidents occurred at San Diego last December when a Texas recruit, Pvt. Lynn McClure, was beaten into unconsciousness by his fellow recuits while training personnel stood by. McClure was no ordinary recuirt. He had been turned down by the Army and the Navy as mentally unfit. But the Marine Corps, which likes to boast about its superior standards, took him, perhaps because its recruiting program was lagging at the time.

Pvt. McClure died as a result of the beating and the Marines launched an investigation. But when it was all over and a court-martial had been held, no one was found guilty of any charge.

Fortunately, the matter has not been dropped. A House Armed Services subcommittee, chaired by Representative Lucien Nedzi of Michigan, has been conducting hearings into Marine Corps training policies. And the Corps itself now gives physical exams to every recruit within 72 hours of his arrival at a training base. The Corps has also abandoned the use of pugil sticks, which caused other serious injuries before McClure's.

In the past the Marine Corps, like the FBI and the CIA, was considered such a sacred cow that, in the eyes of the legislators, it could do no wrong. It is good to see that some hard questions are being asked at last. We hope they will lead to permanent reforms.

The Red Jackal:
Despite U.S. Billion Dollar Loans Tito's Yugoslavia Covers Up World's Toughest Communist Territorists

WASHINGTON — Some time during midday, Sept. 6, Illich Ramirez- Sanchez, who international police units believe to be the world's toughest, smoking gun, terrorist, arrived at Surcin airport, outside of Belgrade, Yugoslavia by commercial airliner from Algiers.

Sanchez, cover name Carlos (known to the CIA as the Jackal), according to global counter-terrorist sources, had come to "get a fix" on the American embassy and Ambassador Larry Silberman there.

Hitting an embassy isn't new to Carlos, who arri ved with two tough Germans from the anarchist Baader- Meinhoff group and three other terrorist operatives. In September 1974 he directed the seizure of the French embassy in The Hague, Holland.

On Sept. 9, after four days in and around Belgrade, in and out of "safe houses" prepared for him by the Yugoslav secret police according to the knowledgeables, Carlos- Sanchez and his band of killers and bodyguards casually booked flight, and left on a regular jet, for Baghdad, Iraq.

This is one of the nations, along with Algeria and Libya, which reportedly provide safe havens, money, forged travel and identification papers and arms for his group of some 40 hit men and women.

It is this international Communist group which plotted the hijacking of the French airliner that carried so many Israelis who were the hostages so dramatically rescued at Entebbe, Uganda.

When the jaunty 27-year-old Venezuelan- born Carlos and his group arrived at Surcin airport, Sept. 6, they were spotted by West German intelligence agents who long have sought Sanchez – today's Che Guevara - - to nail him on his hijacking offenses. The Germans also are working with the French who want him for murder.

Carlos's band, however, was protected by Yugoslav counterintelligence agents who were wary of the Germans. Marshal Tito's secret police gave Carlos's group safe conduct to the safe houses and other assistance.

However the Germans, the French, the Dutch and the Americans made official protests to the Yugoslav foreign ministry. Under the international Hague anti-terrorist convention to which Tito's Yugoslavia is a signatory Belgrade was committed to extradite the killer band, or at least Carlos. Or, in some way punish "the Jackal."

However, the U.S. State Department received no reply. But on Sept. 16, a spokesman for the Yugoslav foreign ministry, Mirko Kalezic said, "I am authorized to state that the reports are inaccurate about an alleged stay of a group of terrorists, including Carlos, in our country."

Note that he used only the cover name for Illich Sanchez, who carries automatic weapons as Beau Brummel sported gloves. Incidentally, Carlos works closely with Cuban embassies everywhere and is aided by a member of the Communist party secretariat of Colombia, South America.

Then Kalezic added that his government as of Sept. 16, had not received any protest from the U.S. on the hospitality to Carlos.

That's a lie. The American Embassy officially protested shortly after Carlos's arrival. A high State Department official told me that "we protested to the Yugoslav government ... one point we made was that they are signatories to the Hague convention ... we did not get any answer."

In such a fashion is the United States mocked by the nation which has received many billions of dollars in American aid.

Further, the Export- Import Bank of the U.S., not too long ago, lent some $900 million to Yugoslavia which is ruled by something called the League of Communists and is controlled by a brutal secret police system. In addition Marshal tito's totalitarian land gets special favored nation treaty status on exports to the U.S. means Yugoslavian goods come in at a lower tax rate -- therefore competing with domestic production.

And Yugoslavia gets special treatment from our government's agricultural credit corporation. They get special low purchase rates on American farm products – and long- term credits.

In exchange for all this America has been called a liar in this case of Carlos, who is wanted in 12 nations for bloody killings, including seizure of the OPEC council in Vienna, during which there was a slaying. For years, newsmen such as myself have been bugged and placed under constant surveillance during visits there.

The Yugoslavs' radio and other propaganda have attacked the U.S. mercilessly. Their secret police have fought America everywhere. And now they have played host to the leader of the world's toughest terror band.

Why doesn't the Senate Intelligence Committee probe that one? Or isn't a piddling $900 million worth it? Not to mention the past billions?

WASHINGTON MERRY-GO-ROUND

A Break for Tax Cheats

with Les Whitten

WASHINGTON -- Over the strong protests of his own enforcement officials, Internal Revenue Commissioner Donald Alexander last year struck a key question off the income tax forms. The question, which simply asked the taxpayers whether they maintained a foreign account, was intended to catch tax evaders.

Big-time criminals, from corporate embezzlers to mobsters, use secret foreign bank accounts to escape paying U.S. taxes. The taxes they avoid, of course, must be made up by the honest taxpayers.

The question about foreign bank accounts has been used by the IRS to trap tax cheaters. In the biggest tax haven case in history, for example, Ohio businessman Jack Payner has been indicted for falsely answering "no" to the question.

Yet Alexander began maneuvering to remove the foreign bank account question from the tax form even before he was sworn in as Internal Revenue commissioner. It is an interesting coincidence that his former Cincinnati law firm has been linked to a tax haven bank in the Bahamas.

An IRS informant in the Bahamas swiped a Rolodex off the desk of Michael Wolstengroft, director of the Castle Bank and Trust. Three cards on the Rolodex contained names of lawyers in Alexander's old firm. We were able to reach only one of the attorneys, who said he had no idea how his name got on the Rolodex.

On May 22, 1973, exactly one week before Alexander took his oath of office, he began a behind-the-scenes campaign to eliminate the foreign bank account question from the tax forms. He forwarded a letter, dealing with an unrelated subject, from a South Carolina lawyer to the IRS committee that deals with tax forms. In an accompanying memo, intended for official eyes only, Alexander brought up the foreign bank account question.

He followed the memo with pressure to remove the troublesome question from the tax forms. This was opposed by his enforcement people. John Olszewski, then the IRS intelligence chief, wrote in a confidential memo: "The loss of this (question) would seriously restrict our efforts to identify those who would use foreign banking facilities in avoidance and evasion schemes."

A similar memo from Edward Morgan, then the assistant treasury secretary in charge of enforcement, also advised Alexander that the question "is a factor in the Treasury Department's efforts to combat the use of foreign bank accounts to facilitate illegal activities." Morgan added sternly that "dropping it from the tax returns at this time would be counter-productive."

Yet Alexander ignored the advice of the law enforcement experts and finally succeeded in removing the question in June, 1975. The notes of the confidential IRS meeting indicate that he didn't even consult the Treasury and Justice Departments before finally striking the question ofl the tax forms. Alexander's attitude was betrayed by his remarks to a group of public accountants. "We have knocked out the foreign bank account question at long last," he told them.

Footnote: An IRS spokesman admitted there had been disagreement over the question's removal but insisted Alexander's actions were beyond reproach. Meanwhile, Rep. Charles Vanik, D.-Ohio, has introduced legislation that would force the IRS to reinstate the foreign bank account question.

SUSPICIOUS THAIS: The Thai government is quietly investigating a questionable deal between a Thai airline and a U.S. aircraft manufacturer.

The Thais want to find out why the airline, Thai International, paid McDonnell Douglas Corp. $2 million more per plane than was charged to ther airways. Thai investigators are also suspicious, say our sources, because the government-owned airline made a down payment before the transaction was approved by the Thai cabinet. This violated government regulations.

As part of the investigation, the Thai government has sent its communications secretary, Dr. Gun Nagamiti, to the United States to do a little probing. He has met privately with Securities and Exchange officials and Senate investigators.

A McDonnell spokesman told us it was against company policy to discuss the terms of the Thai transaction. We have obtained a confidential cable, however, in which the corporation's president, Sanford N. McDonnell, denies any impropriety. Corporation officials have also assured the Thais privately that the company did not "bribe or promise to pay money to any airline or government official." A spokesman for the Thai embassy confirmed the details of the investigation.

Footnote: In an unrelated investigation, the Securities and Exchange Commission has been looking into payments by McDonnell to foreign officials. The company has already admitted that approximately $2.5 million was paid to officials of foreign governments or government-owned airlines between January, 1970 and June, 1975.

PRAISE FOR NAZI: After weeks of shilly-shallying, the United States Information Agency has admitted it erred in broadcasting an eulogy over the Voice of America about a dead ex-Nazi. We revealed that the VOA praised the late Joseph Pauco as a great patriot, although he had edited an anti-semitic, pro-Hitler paper during World War II in his native Slovakia.

Both the Anti-Defamation League and the American Jewish Committee protested to USIA head James Keogh. Now Keogh has admitted the eulogy should have noted Pauco's Nazi past. The three VOA employes responsible for the broadcast have been reprimanded.

Kidnaped woman leery of rescuers

JACKSONVILLE, Fla. (AP) — After four days of helplessness — bound, gagged and blindfolded in dense woodland — Sheri Linda Jaffa, the kidnaped wife of a wealthy land developer, wasn't sure she could trust her rescuers.

Even as Jacksonville Police Chief Matt Touchton worked with knife and scissors to cut her bound wrists early Sunday, Mrs. Jaffa demanded to see his badge. The men who abducted her last Wednesday had been dressed as policemen.

But the rescue was real, and her husband, Richard, was soon at her side.

"I can't recall what she said when we first saw each other. The big thing is seeing. We kissed and it was the greatest kiss we ever had," her husband said.

Jack McWilliams, 39, the brother of Jaffa's business partner in a Jacksonville contracting business, was charged with the kidnaping and held under $750,000 bond.

He was arrested in jail, where he was serving a weekends-only jail sentence imposed in another case.

Investigators said Mrs. Jaffa's rescue in a wooded area came after McWilliams' girl friend, Edith Burton, 22, broke down under questioning at the jail in Macclenny, 30 miles west of Jacksonville.

"She drew us a map to lead us to the spot but I took her in my car and made her show us," Asst. State Atty. Wayne Ellis said.

Mrs. Burton, who told police she helped in the abduction, hid under a cover in the back seat of the car because she didn't want to see Mrs. Jaffa again, Ellis said.

"We called out ... heard her groan and found her," Ellis said. It was just a mile from her home.

Mrs. Jaffa, 35, was hospitalized for exposure and abrasions but was reported in good condition and high spirits today.

Rescuers said Mrs. Jaffa was badly bitten by mosquitoes and scraped on the back and head from trying to work herself loose from the post to which she was tied, which was similar to a railroad tie and six-feet tall. Her bonds were nailed to the post.

"She wanted to know if her husband and children were all right," Touchton said. "She was in excellent condition for the situation. She had been exposed to rain, heat, cool nights and the tape over her eyes and mouth which naturally makes the skin sore."

Jaffa said his wife will not meet with reporters to discuss her ordeal.

"The most important thing is to get life back to normal," Jaffa said. "She is already discussing a possible European vacation."

After the kidnap, Jaffa received a $200,000 ransom demand. He got $50,000 together, and a trail of notes directed him to leave the money at a spot in the Ocala National Forest.

The money was never picked up, and when the kidnapers made no further contact, Jaffa and his two children made a televised appeal for Mrs. Jaffa's release.

FBI agent Arthur Nehrbass said the accused man, a native of Lumpkin, Ga., is the brother of Aubrey E. McWilliams, a partner with Jaffa in Spectra Builders.

Apartment fire deaths puzzle police

NEW YORK (AP) — Police admitted today they are still baffled as to why a Chinese couple and their daughter plunged from a window of their fourth-floor apartment while about $74,000 in cash was burning in a bucket in the apartment.

Ark On Leo, 76, a retired laundryman, and his wife, Yuk Lin Leo, 67, died in the fall. Their daughter, Fe Hong Leo, 44, was in critical condition and still unconscious today at Elmhurst Hospital.

Police said another $24,000 in cash was found in the apartment unburned.

One police officer theorized the family might have been carrying out a religious rite in which the money was burned "as a way of making sure you get into heaven."

But fire officials noted that another window of the apartment led to a fire escape, and said the trio might have been fleeing the smoke from the burning money and gone out the wrong window.

Police said firemen were first at the scene of the tragedy in the Sunnyside section of Queens after someone saw smoke coming from the Leos' apartment Sunday morning.

The fire in the pail was quickly put out with little damage to the apartment.

Meanwhile, a neighbor spotted the bodies. The daughter was rushed to the hospital, where she underwent surgery for a brain injury.

One police officer ruled out foul play.

Home remedy for damaged veneer

By Polly Cramer

Inflation Fighter

DEAR POLLY — Water was accidentally spilled on the top of my veneered television cabinet. It was not wiped up immediately. The result is a bunch of wavy ridges. Other than a complete repair job, is there anything to lessen these ridges? — MRS. L.K.B.

DEAR MRS. L.K.B. — I presume the veneer has split where it popped up. You might try placing a cloth that has been wrung out of hot water over these ridges to soften the veneer. Check often, so it does not make white spots. When ridges are pliable, furniture glue might be put under the loose pieces (a match or toothpick could be used to help spread it). When pushed back into place, wipe off excess glue. You can use a rolling pin or other similar object to roll veneer down flat, cover with waxed paper and weight it down in place with a lot of heavy books. Leave until glue is thoroughly dry, which might be a day or two. If this does not work, I think a professional refinisher will be needed. — POLLY.

DEAR POLLY — My Pet Peeve is that so many clothes, especially those for children, are made of beer label prints. There are so many it is getting sickening. — MRS. E.G.S.

DEAR POLLY — When your roll-on deodorant is getting low, keep the bottle turned upside down in the cabinet. You will be surprised how many more times you can use it.

I keep an old blouse hanging on the bathroom door, so when I am dressing I can put the blouse on while combing my hair or finishing with my make-up. This saves the dress I have put on. — ETHEL.

DEAR POLLY — Last week when I was on the bus, a lady got on who did not have the correct change. This can happen to the most careful people. After it happened to me a couple of times I started keeping a pill bottle in my purse. It is large enough to hold the necessary quarters, so now when I have any dimes and quarters they are dropped into this bottle. Both the bus driver and I are saved a lot of frustration. This also comes in handy when I go to the laundromat. — SARAH.

Dear Consumer

Is Your Brown Bag A Bacteria Bag?

By Virginia Knauer
Special Assistant to the President and Director
Office of Consumer Affairs
Department of Health, Education and Welfare

If you miss several days of work—or the children have to stay home—because of a "bug" that is going around, your "bug" may not be "the bug" at all—but a mild case of food poisoning.

According to Agriculture Department's Animal and Plant Health Inspection Service (APHIS), many consumers suffer through bouts of food poisoning because of improperly packed foods. And believe it or not, this food is most often found in that innocent brown bag that your family takes to school or to the office.

Most germs that cause food poisoning are killed when the food is cooked. But some germs that produce poisons are not destroyed by heat, or they can be reintroduced by improper food handling after cooking. In addition, leaving food at room temperature for too long—usually two hours—can allow germs to grow to dangerous numbers. This is why brown bag lunches are such a prime candidate for infecting your family with food poisoning.

To insure that your brown bag meals are safe—as well as nutritious—APHIS provides these tips for safe preparation and packing of homemade lunches:

- When preparing lunch, keep utensils and countertops clean by washing them thoroughly with soap and water. Also wash your hands—if you have any cuts or sores on them, use rubber gloves; otherwise bacteria can be transmitted from cuts in your hands to the food.
- Avoid using fingers to place meat, poultry or cheeses in the sandwich. APHIS recommends using tongs or a fork.
- Keep hot food, like soup, hot by pouring it at boiling temperature into a sterile vacuum bottle. Bacteria thrive between 45 degrees F and 115 degrees F; keeping the food at 212 degrees F will keep it free from harmful germs.
- Keep cold foods cold. If there is an employee refrigerator at the plant or office, it would be best to store the lunch in it.
- If you do not have access to a refrigerator, you can still keep food cool: Fill a plastic margarine tub with water, putting the lid on tight and then freezing it. This form of refrigeration should keep food chilled until meal time.
- Another way to keep lunches safe is to freeze sandwiches. If put frozen into a lunch bag, they will thaw by meal time, and, while thawing, will keep the rest of your lunch cool.

Ann Landers

Swine flue information sought

Dear Ann Landers: Please tell me (and millions of others) what this swine flu thing is all about. I need some no-nonsense answers to the following questions:

Why is the U.S. government spending $135 million on a project when there is no evidence that there will be a swine flu epidemic?

When will the shots be available to the public?

Is there a chance that a person can get swine flu from the shot?

Who should take the shot? Who should NOT take it?

Is the shot safe for pregnant women?

How effective will the shot be?

What are the possible side effects?

Where will the swine flu shots be given?

How much will they cost?

Are YOU going to have a swine flu shot?

Thanks for your help. It's wonderful to have somebody to turn to for reliable information. -- We Appreciate You In New York.

Dear N.Y.: The U.S. government is spending $135 million on the swine flu project because it believes in preventive medicine. There may be no epidemic but if one should occur it could be devastating. In 1957-58, over 70,000 peopele in the U.S. died of the Asian flu. In 1968-69 the Hong Kong flu claimed 30,000 lives.

The swine flu shots will be a ailable by Oct. 1. Assistant HEW Secretary Dr. Theodore Cooper estimates that the shots should protect about 85 per cent of those who take them. (The other 15 per cent should get milder cases than if they had no shot at all.)

There is NO chance that a person will get the flu from the shot because the vaccine is made of a killed virus. The only significant side effects MAY be a sore arm and a fever. (The government ran an experiment on 6,000 volunteers. Out of those who received the swine vaccine, 1.9 per cent developed a fever that lasted about 24 hours or less.)

Should children get the shot? The researchers are still working on dosages for children under 18. However, those children who are inclined to get fevers should NOT get the shot.

It is strongly recommended that adults over 18 get the regular swine flu shots (200 units of A-New Jersey-76). For the high-risk population (those over 60, those who have chronic heart disease, respiratory problems, diabetes -- or cancer patients who are in treatment), a combination of the swine flu vaccine and A-Victoria-75 is recommended.

There is no reason why a pregnant woman should not take the swine flu shot.

It has been emphasized that the shot should NOT be taken by individuals who are allergic to eggs (this includes pregnant women).

The shots may be obtained from your physician, who may charge for an office visit but NOT for the vaccine. (He gets it free.) After Oct. 1, phone your local health department and ask where and when the shots will be offered in your city. They will be free.

Am I taking the swine flu shot? You bet I am. I'll be one of the first in line the moment they are available.

American husband needed so divorcee can stay here

EAST ALTON, Ill. (AP) — "White English lady seeking marriage for immigration purposes," read the advertisement placed by Mrs. Susan Spurrier in a weekly newspaper.

Since it appeared last week, the attractive 28-year-old divorcee has been so deluged with phone calls, many of them obviously pranks, that she got an unlisted number.

She plans to sift through applications from prospective husbands, seeking a marriage that will allow her and her two young children to remain in the United States.

"It's not a prank," she said Saturday. "I'm doing this because I love my children and want them to have the schooling and other benefits Americans are entitled to."

Mrs. Spurrier faces deportation because she was never properly registered here as a resident alien. She has been ordered to leave the country by Dec. 31 unless she finds another American husband.

The East Alton woman said she disregarded the advice of friends to seek a husband through the normal channels of dating.

"That takes time," she said, "and time is the thing I don't have right now.

"I got the idea from the English newspapers, which often carry such ads in the personal columns from Australian or Indian girls who must marry an Englishman in order to stay in England. Apparently, this sort of thing doesn't happen so often here."

Mrs. Spurrier was divorced last March from her first husband, Calvert Spurrier, whom she met while he was stationed with the U.S. Air Force in England.

She said she was told by an Immigration Service officer that the only way she could remain in the United States was to have an American husband sign the papers for a resident alien card. Her former husband never completed the paperwork for the card and now lives in Alaska, she said.

The woman was first ordered to leave last spring, but through the intercession of Rep. Paul Findley, R-Ill., the order was extended twice, first to June 19 and then to Dec. 31.

Remarriage is a last resort if all other legal remedies fail, she said.

Her advertisement in a Wood River weekly reaped about 40 replies in the first two days, and soon the phone calls began to follow.

"They're calling from all over — Florida, California, some in the middle of the night," she said. "One of them calling from California said he was a Spurrier and related someway to Calvert and would jump on a plane right away if I said yes."

She plans to screen written applications, which are to include biographical information, personal likes and dislikes and a photograph.

If the new marriage results in love, that would be alright too, said Mrs. Spurrier, who lives with her children Julian, 2½, and Janel, 13 months, in this small community near St. Louis.

"If it happens, it happens, but this is just something separate to keep my children here," she said. "He would have to like my children."

Protein supplements not advised for diet

This column is a service from Cooperative Extension Nutritionists at Lincoln University and the University of Missouri. Questions from readers about food and diet are welcomed. Letters should be addressed to: Dr. James W. Nordstrom, Nutrition Extension, Lincoln University, Jefferson City, MO. 65101.

A good friend of mine has started selling a line of health foods. He says that all older people need a protein supplement to give them energy. What do you say?

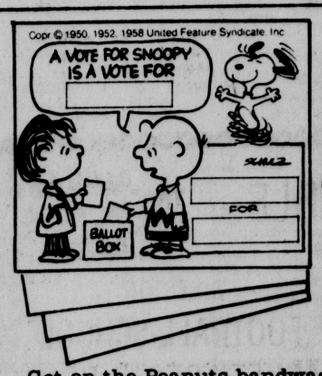

A. In the first place, protein should not be added to diets to furnish energy. Carbohydrates (sugars and starches) and fats are more efficient and cheaper as energy suppliers or "fuel" nutrients. The primary value of protein is for growth and maintenance of muscle and other tissues of the body including hair, skin, lining tissues of the digestive tract, etct, etc. When more protein is consumed than is needed for growth and maintenance, the excess levels are used for energy, and may also be stored as fat. Possible harmful effects from excess protein include the unnecessary burden that is placed on the kidneys and an increased loss of calcium from the body.

Your friend is also in error about all older people needing more protein. The fact is that nutrition surveys have not found evidence for widespread lack of protein among older people, or for any age group for that matter, in our country. A small percentage of older individuals are consuming marginal amounts of protein because they are not eating properly. In such cases the addition of some protein- rich foods to the diet like milk, cheese or meat could easily solve the need for more protein.

The best way to obtain the nutrients needed for health is to eat nutritious foods in a balanced diet. This can be achieved by following the guidelines of the four food groups to include in each day's diet: Two glasses of milk (or three ounces of cheese); two servings of meat, fish, eggs or beans; Four servings of fruits and vegetables (including one of citrus and a serving of dark green or deep yellow vegetable at least every other day); and four servings of bread and cereals. Note that these are minimums, and most of us will tend to eat more food than this.

If additional vitamins and iron are considered desireable in the diet, the best and cheapest way to obtain them is by purchasing a complete vitamin and iron supplement. These are available in capsule form to be taken as one pill each day. Most grocery stores and drug stores carry them at a reasonable cost. It is a good idea to avoid buying vitamins or food supplements of any kind from door-to-door salesmen because their prices are usually much too high.

Grid Cardinals find going rough against charged-up Chargers

SAN DIEGO (AP) — The surprising San Diego Chargers aren't quite ready to call themselves contenders yet, but they don't mind if everyone else does.

And Sunday's stunning 43-24 victory over the defending National Conference Eastern Division champion St. Louis Cardinals has people talking about the Chargers contending for a playoff berth.

"Are we a contender?" said Charger head Coach Tommy Prothro, repeating a question after his team improved its record to 3-0 against the favored Cardinals.

"At least today we are," he decided. "We won our first two but this is the first real good team we've played and we wanted to find out how good we really were."

What the Chargers discovered was they have an awesome offense, one that even outshined the offensive-minded Cardinal attack. And only a year ago San Diego finished last with a 2-12 record.

"We were awfully high today," said Prothro. "If we play like this every week we're going to be awfully tough to beat."

The Chargers, sparked by the passing of Dan Fouts and the running of Don Woods and Ricky Young, rolled up 451 yards total offense enroute to their first 3-0 start since 1968.

Fouts completed 15 of 18 passes for 259 yards, including four touchdown passes. His scoring strikes included 44 and 18-yard connections with Dwight McDonald, a 30-yarder to Charlie Joiner and a oneyard toss to Pat Curran.

"We obviously had an excellent game plan for them," said Fouts, who credited Bill Walsh, the team's first-year offensive coach, with an excellent afternoon of calling the plays.

"The big key was getting off to the fast start," Fouts said. "Our design called for some long passes to test them deep and when we succeeded it really loosened things up."

The Chargers moved 72 yards in only two plays following the opening kickoff. A 59-yard Fouts pass to Joiner took San Diego to the Cardinal 13 and Woods scored on the next play.

The Cards bounced back to lead 10-6 on a 14-yard scoring pass from Jim Hart to J. V. Cain and a 32-yard Jim Bakken field goal.

A three-yard scoring run by Young and three Fouts touchdown passes in the second period put the Charges ahead, 33-10 at the half.

"San Diego has to be very proud of its team," said Cardinal Coach Don Coryell. "The Chargers really came to play football and they had a beautifully conceived offensive plan.

"They have fine athletes and fine spirit and they beat us badly. We have no excuses. It could have been that they could have beaten anybody today."

The 43 points scored by the Chargers represented their highest total since 1971. They now are tied with the Oakland Raiders for the AFC Western Division lead, while St. Louis is 2-1.

Denny and Cruz help Redbirds stop Pirates

ST. LOUIS (AP) — At least two young members of the St. Louis Cardinals are intent on proving good can come from a bad season.

John Denny and Hector Cruz paced the Cards to a 5-2 victory Sunday over the Pittsburgh Pirates and looked forward to brighter days.

"I think my big objective this year was to at least match what I did last year," said Denny after halting the Pirates on four hits through seven innings.

While Denny was spellbinding Pittsburgh and boosting his record to 11-8, Cruz was playing the roles of a Jekyll and Hyde.

First he erred by trying to advance to third base from second on Garry Templeton's grounder into the hole at shortstop.

His blunder cost St. Louis a big inning in the fifth but an inning later, undaunted, he smacked a changeup by Bruce Kison, 14-9, for his 12th home run.

"I felt bad about what happened the inning before," he acknowledged. "Their shortstop (Frank Taveras) made a good play, but I shouldn't have gone."

Cruz' homer, solidifying his position as the Cards' leader in the department, was accompanied by a single that raised his batting average to .226.

"He's come a long way since April," Murtaugh said of Cruz, who was hitting .193 at the All-Star break. "He's leading the club in home runs. He'll be a good ball player."

Pittsburgh's loss, suffered as the Philadelphia Phillies were clinching the National League East title, was the Pirates' seventh in 10 games.

Nine days earlier, while riding the crest of a hot spell, the club had pulled only three games back of the Phils with 15 games yet to play.

"They say streaks follow streaks," suggested Dave Parker, the Pittsburgh right fielder. "At one time nobody could beat us, then we turned around and couldn't beat anybody else."

Pisarkiewicz praizes his understudy

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Steve Pisarkiewicz glanced at the center of attention in a boisterous Missouri dressing room. Pete Woods, his successor as the Tigers' quarterback, was surrounded by writers.

They were pressing Woods to say how he engineered a 22-21 upset Saturday at Ohio State, the nation's No. 2 ranked college football power.

Pisarkiewicz, idled with a gimpy shoulder injury, supplied some answers of his own.

"Any kind of a clutch situation there is to face he faced today. He came through. I just can't say enough about him," said Pisarkiewicz, considered a sure-fire pro prospect.

"I didn't want to give him any strategic advice," the No. 1 Missouri quarterback said of his understudy, making his first varsity start. "I just tried to keep him as cool as I could. I tried to relax him."

Woods, a 6-foot-4, 210-pound junior, said, "I was not nervous. I've been sitting around waiting for my chance. The only thing I was hoping was that I wouldn't blow it."

Woods didn't. He dissected Ohio State's pass defense for 113 yards and two touchdowns, 31 yards to Joe Stewart and two yards to Leo Lewis. Curt Brown ran four yards for the other Missouri score.

"Woods is a good runner and passer. He doesn't have the zip on the ball like Pisarkiewicz. The only thing he lacked was game experience. He had played only in the last quarter of Illinois and a few games last year," said Missouri Coach Al Onofrio.

"Under the conditions existing," said Onofrio, "this was the greatest football game a Missouri team ever has played."

A subdued Woody Hayes, Ohio State's coach, mumbled, "They wanted to win it more than we did. They deserved it."

Woods, bidding for the vital two extra points in the hectic final seconds, misfired on a pass to Brown. But a Buckeye holding penalty gave him a second chance and he ran it in himself.

"I just saw daylight and got hit before I got to the goal. I was lucky enough to get in," said Woods of the play that handed the Buckeyes (2-1) their first home loss in 26 games. Northwestern last beat Ohio State 14-10 in the home finale in 1972.

Missouri wiped out a 21-7 halftime deficit, built on a trio of two-yard touchdown runs by 239-pound fullback Pete Johnson. The Tigers are 2-1.

Anemic K.C. loses: magic number 3

ARLINGTON, Tex. (AP) — Kansas City Manager Whitey Herzog is anything but happy and brimming with confidence although his Royals own a 4½-game lead with a week to play in the season. He says he's worried that the club is going to bow to the pressure of the American League West Division race.

"I'll be honest. I don't see how we're ever going to win another game," said Herzog after the Texas Rangers beat his Royals 3-1 Sunday.

The Royals open a three-game series with second-place Oakland tonight in Oakland, which has seven games remaining to Kansas City's six.

Hitting, or the lack of it, is Herzog's major concern. The Royals scored only three runs in the three-game series against Texas and have managed just eight markers in six games.

"I've never seen anything like it," said Herzog. "They are so tight they look afraid to hit the ball. They looked like they're scared to win another game."

Don Faurot named committee leader

JEFFERSON CITY — The Citizens Committee for Conservation, which is seeking funding for an expanded wild life and forsestry conservation program in Missouri, has named Don Faurot, legendary football coach and athletic director at the University of Missouri, as its honorary chairman.

The Citizens Committee has put on the Nov. 2 ballot by initiative petition a proposal for a one-eighth of one per cent sales tax which would be Constitutionally dedicated to wildlife and forestry programs. It will be Amendment One on the ballot.

Faurot, an avid outdoorsman, has long been interested in conservation and said he welcomed the chance to do something to help Missuri's conservation program.

Faurot invented the Split-T offense which is the base of most modern football offenses. For that and his long career, he is a member pf the National Football Hall of Fame and the Missouri Sports Hall of Fame.

Sikeston teams busy

Tonight's Sikeston High School sports schedule finds action slated in football, volleyball and tennis.

The junior varsity football team will go for its second victory of the season tonight when they travel to Charleston. It will be the first road encounter for the 1-1 jayvees.

The volleyvall team, sporting a 2-1 slate, goes to Charleston to rake on the Bluejay netters. Sikeston is coming off a surprising victory over Poplar Bluff last Thursday night.

The SHS girls tennis team puts its perfect 4-0 record on the line as they host Caruthersville in the first real test of the season Sikeston has won three consecutive matches by 11-0 scores, but now must get by Caruthersville, the only team to defeat them last season.

Phillies sweep twinbill to wrap up East race

"We're only one third of the way there, but it's a big step," says Philadelphia Manager Danny Ozark. "I feel we've got the best club in baseball."

Ozark's club took the first step towards backing up that contention Sunday by clinching the National League's East Division title with a 4-1 triumph over Montreal in the first game of a doubleheader. After a between-games champagne party, the Phils came back to complete the sweep with a 2-1 victory in the second game, shortened to seven innings by rain.

The Phils will meet the defending champion Cincinnati Reds for the National League crown in the best-of-five playoffs. Should they survive that test, they would meet the American League representative in the World Series.

Greg Luzinski's three-run homer off Montreal starter Dan Warthen, 2-9, in the sixth inning was the decisive blow as Philadelphia mathematically eliminated Pittsburgh to win its first title since 1950, when the "Whiz Kids" took the National League pennant on the last day of the season. The Phils' only other pennant year was 1915.

The Phils erased an early 1-0 deficit in the nightcap on run-scoring singles by Jay Johnstone in the third inning and Tim Blackwell in the sixth.

Thefts are up, murders down as overall crime rate edges up

WASHINGTON (AP) — Thefts increased 11 per cent and murders declined 6 per cent as the over-all U.S. crime rate edged upward during the first six months of this year, the FBI reported today.

Of the seven crime categories measured by the FBI's Uniform Crime Reports, theft was the only one showing an increase nationally. But that 11 per cent jump boosted the over-all crime rate 3 per cent, compared with the same period in 1975.

The FBI statistics are based on the number of crimes reported by 9,160 state and local law enforcement agencies. Other studies, however, have shown that the number of crimes reported to police is far lower than the number actually committed.

Atty. Gen. Edward H. Levi noted that the 3 per cent overall increase is much less than the 13 per cent surge in the first half of 1975, compared with the same period a year earlier.

"While the trend is encouraging," he said, "there remains a net increase in serious crime — a clear reminder that all segments of the criminal justice system must continue working to solve the problem."

Nationally, the FBI reported that murder was down 12 per cent, rape and assault each declined 1 per cent, robbery dropped 10 per cent, burglary dropped 5 per cent and motor vehicle thefts fell 3 per cent.

The sharp increases in theft occurred in all population categories and in all parts of the country. The surge ranged from 5 per cent in Western states to 18 per cent in the Northeast, and from 9 per cent in cities between 500,000 and one million in population to 16 per cent in cities over one million.

With two exceptions, the four violent crime categories — murder, rape, robbery and assault — declined in all parts of the country. The exception was a 5 per cent increase in rape and a 4 per cent increase in assault in Western states.

Murder and robbery declined in all population categories, but rape increased slightly in medium-sized and small cities and assaults rose from 1 to 5 per cent in cities of 100,000 or less.

Among the nation's largest cities, Chicago, Los Angeles and Philadelphia reported fewer crimes in the six-month period, compared with the same period a year ago, while New York and Houston reported over-all increases.

The number of crimes dropped from 109,978 to 104,629 in Chicago, largely because of decreases in rape, robbery, assault and burglary. But murders increased from 408 to 423.

In Los Angeles, 111,403 crimes were reported in the 1976 period, down from the 112,813 a year ago. Philadelphia listed 36,923 this year, down from 39,419 a year ago.

The FBI said New Yorkers experienced 314,000 crimes in the six-month period, up from 264,958 a year ago. Murder, rape and assault declined, but robbery, burglary, theft and vehicle theft rose sharply.

In Houston, the total was up from 42,692 last year to 48,457 this year and most of the increase was in the category of theft.

Kansas, Missouri murder rate figures show decrease in '76

WASHINGTON (AP) — All major cities in Kansas and Missouri posted a decrease in murder and non-negligent homicide for the first six months of the year, according to figures released by the FBI Wednesday.

The FBI compiles six categories of "serious" crimes reported to police and also keeps close statisticl tabs on motor vehicle thefts. The six serious categories are murder and non-negligent homicide, forecible rape, robbery, aggravated assault, burglary-breaking or entering and larceny-theft.

Here are the serious crimes reported by law enforcement agencies in cities over 100,000 in Missouri and Kansas for the first six months of 1976:

MISSOURI

Independence—Murders decreased from 2 to 1, rapes decreased from 13 to 10, robberies decreased from 43 to 31, assaults decreased from 137 to 91, burglaries from 706 to 667, thefts increased from 1,742 to 1,942 and auto thefts decreased from 160 to 154. The city's crime index increased from 2,803 to 2,896 because of the increase in thefts.

The cities crime index decreased from 5,103 to 4,891.

St. Louis—Murders decreased from 110 to 81, rapes increased from 192 to 234, robbery decreased from 2,894 to 2,569, assaults increaased from 1,677 to 1,777, burglaries decreased from 9,464 to 8,528 theft decreased from 14,822 to 14,818, and auto theft decreased from 4,709 to 3,511. The cities crime index droped from 33,868 to 31,518.

Kansas

Topeka—Murders decreased from six to three, rapes decreased from 29 to 19, robberies decreased from 89 to 88, assault increased from 153 to 178, burglaries increased from 1,040 to 1,146, theft increased from 2,508 to 3,123 and auto theft increased from 131 to 141. The crime index increased from 3,956 to 4,707.

Wichita—Murders decreaased from 14 to three, rape increased from 23 to 31, robbery decreased from 315 to 240, assault increased from 187 to 220, burglaries decreased from 2,878 to 2,577, theft increased from 5,592 to 6,323 and auto theft increased from 675 to 679. The cities crime index increased from 9,684 to 10,073.

Achievement tests are scheduled

Sikeston Junior High School students will take achievement tests Thursday and Friday.

On Thursday, eighth grade students will take the Science Research Associates (SRA) test. Testing will end at approximately 3:15 p.m. The ninth grade will be out of school that day. On Friday, ninth grade students will take the Iowa Test of Educational Development (ITED) and the eighth grade will not be in school. Ninth grade testing will end at approximately 2:15 p.m.

At the close of testing on both days, students who live within walking distance or whose parents pick them up may leave. Others will remain at school and ride buses at their regular times.

Hearnes campaign funds still suffers

First he was, then he wasn't. So went the political campaign career of David K. Martin, hired recently to be Warren Hearnes' U.S. Senate campaign manager.

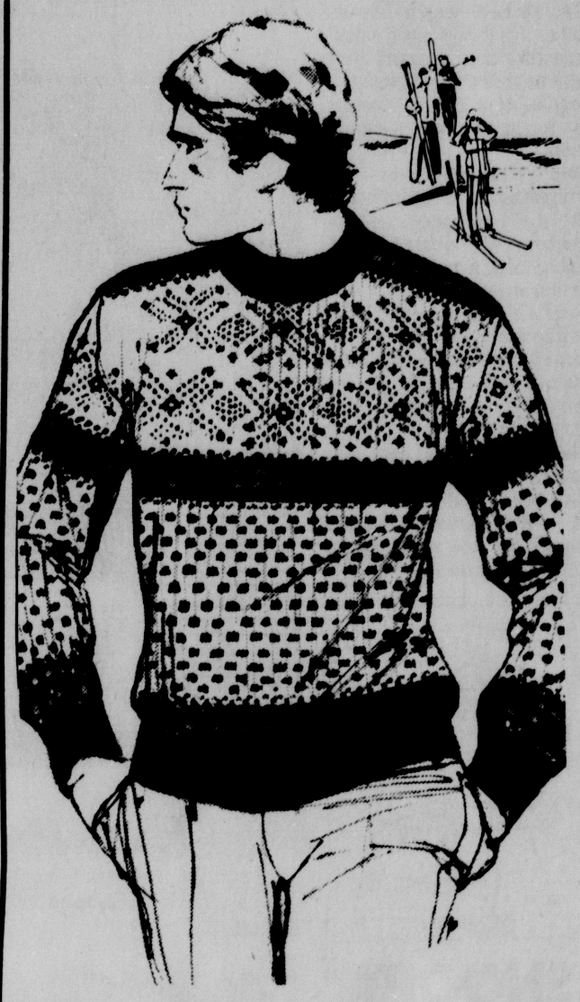

Martin was hired, made the rounds of meeting the capital press, did some preliminary work but then was let go within a week when money problems precluded a hired staff.

Hearnes, who ended the primary campaign with less than $25 in the bank for his campaign committee, also tried to persuade Danforth to forego any advertising at all other than jointly appearing with Hearnes at debates throughout the state.

Danforth rejected that offer, which drew the expected criticism from Hearnes, and money problems for the Hearnes campaign do not seem to be getting any better.

News in brief

Teasdale suffered a political defeat last week when he couldn't get his nominee installed as chairman of the state Democratic party.

Teasdale's choice, St. Louis attorney Brendan Ryan, couldn't get any of the three male members of the First Congressional District's members on the Democratic State Committee to step aside for him. Membership on the committee is a requirement for a party chairman.

Several St. Louis party conflicts conspired against Ryan, and he and Teasdale finally surrendered gracefully rather than risk agitating other Democrats.

Instead of Ryan, the committee settled for John McIlroy of Bowling Green again. McIlroy had been called to replace James Spain when Spain resigned as chairman earlier this year. Ironically, McIlroy had to get someone to assent to give up his seat for McIlroy so he could serve as chairman. He was successful, however.

George Lehr was active on another front this past week, suggesting that a grand jury might be called to look into the selection of a site in Kansas City for a medium security prison.

But Commissioner of Administration J. Neil Nielsen and John Cooper, state director of design and construction, denied any need for such an inquiry.

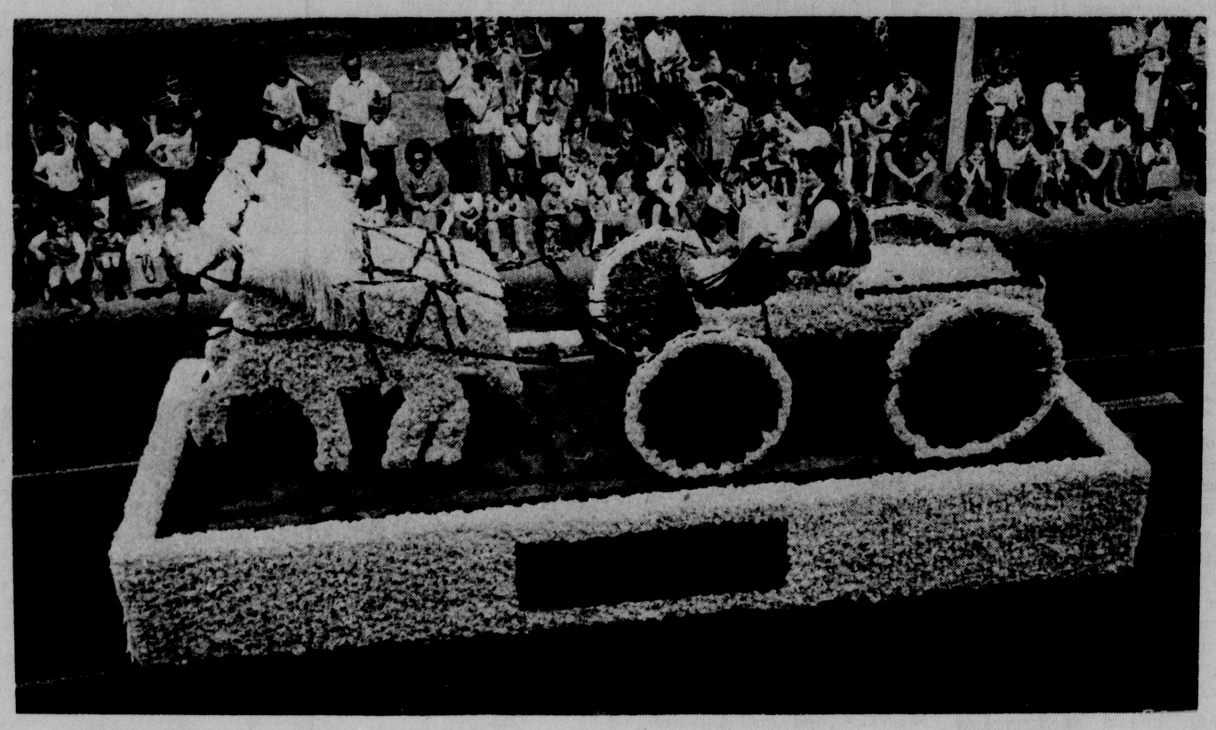

Lehr's main objection was that the state did not receive appraisals on the property the state was looking at until after a ten-day "cooling off" period had expired.

Cooper said he had been told of what the appraisals were before the period expired and that only actual physical receipt of the appraisals occurred after the deadline.

Policy gives additional funds to Sikeston schools

State Treasurer James I. Spainhower has announced that a policy he initiated shortly after taking office in 1973 has been expanded and will directly benefit the Sikeston R-6 School District.

The treasurer enacted early in his present term a system of wire-transferring state funds to and from banks where the state holds deposits. He says this modern procedure has earned the state millions of dollars in additinal interest.

Legislation supported by Spainhower and passed earlier this year by the Missouri General Assembly allows the state treasurer to transfer electronically quarterly distribution to the bank used by the Sikeston R-6 School District.

The latest wire-transfer to the Sikeston district Wednesday will mean several hundred dollars in additional funds for the school system. The wire-transfer system implemented by Spainhower replaces the previous system of mailing checks to the school district.

The Sikeston district received $741,539 through Wednesday's wire-transfer.

Spainghower says school districts taking advantage of the wire-transfer system will get their distribution payments one to three days earlier now, and will be able to invest those funds at interest that much sooner.

"This," he says, "will earn money which the school systems will be able to use to help meet the increased costs schools face during this period of high inflation."

Before the Missouri Legislature passed the law allowing the state treasurer to transfer school distribution payment in this manner, most school systems received their funds through the mail in the form of a check from the treasurer.

Schools which received larger sums from the School Foundation Program often sent a representative from their school district to Jefferson City to pick up the check when it was issued.

This allowed them to invest their monies sooner, but in many cases it required a long drive, considerable inconvenience and needless expense.

More than 450 attend Delta Center field day

PORTAGEVILLE–More than 450 farmers and other interested people attended this year's University of Missouri Delta Center field day, according to Center Supt. Charles F. Cromwell.

The field day tours, which were conducted on tractor-drawn wagons, visited various research projects on the center's Lee Farm, where the researchers conducting the studies explained their methods and the results. Studies were conducted on cotton, soybeans, sorghum, corn and wheat.

Located about seven miles southeast of Portageville, the Lee farm is a 666-acre farm with machinery sheds, a chemical storage and mixing building and shops.

Headquarters for the center is on the Marsh Farm, a 180-acre spread located one mile south of Portageville. This farm has the office and laboratory buildings and greenhouses.

The Cavanaugh Farm on the river bank has 75 acres of crop land.

All three farms were gifts of Margret Marsh and Matilda Cavanaugh and came from the DeWitt Clinton Lee estate.

Research reports included results of studies on cotton varieties, soybean seed tretament, foliar feeding of soybeans, battles against soybean pests, cotton growth regulators and foliar fungicides.

Tour guides also pointed out to the visitors the need for a higher cotton research checkoff tc replace federal funds no longer available.

According to the researchers, if cotton growers approve a bigger checkoff, the cotton industry will benefit by funding more of the kind of reserch growers want.

Delta Center staff members welcoming the visitors during the field day included Dr. C.H. Baldwin, Debbie Bonds, W. H. Boon, M. M. Cooper, H. F. DiCarlo, J. D. Garrett, L. F. Hand, Keith Harrendorf, D. R. Kelley, P. L. Kelley, Dr. H. D. Kerr, Kathryn Kinnard, E. L. Kowalski, E. B. Nace, G. H. Patton. Dr. M. E. Roof, J. A. Roth, C. M. Royster, Dr. W. P. Sappenfield, J. H. Scott, Dr. J. G. Shannon, R. D. Sheeley, L. G. Stokes and J. A. Wrather.

Other project leaders, based in Columbia but doing research at the center, include Dr. G. M. Chippendale, Dr. R. D. Horrocks, Dr. A. J. Keaster, Dr. V. N Lambeth, Dr. C. W. Lobenstein, Dr. J. M. Poehman, Dr. M. S. Zuber, Dr. Dean Berry, Dr. Jack Wallen, and Dr. E. B. Lillehoj.

3 homes burglarized

Three homes were reported burglarized Friday, according to the Department of Public Safety.

Leonard Campbell, 1701 Kentucky Ave., reported the theft of a tool box and assorted items from a storage shed under his carport and from the inside of his home.

The theft occurred sometime during the last two weeks while he was out of town.

Barbara Ann Ivy, 306 Lee St., reported the theft of a red velvet bedspread, worth $25 and a cloth picture valued at $30 from her home between 12:26 p.m. and 1:26 p.m. Friday.

Police took a woman into custody in connection with the theft on information supplied by a neighbor.

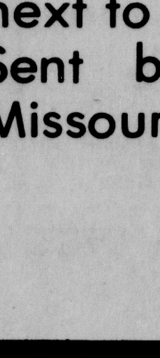

Richard James 1010 Maude St., reported the theft of a 25-inch color television set sometime between 8 a.m. and 2:30 p.m. Friday. The set was valued at $200.

Entry to the house was gained by breaking out a glass window in the back door.

Today in U.S. history

By The Associated Press

Today is Monday, September 27, the 271st day of 1976. There are 95 days left in the year.

Today's highlight in history:

On this date in 1964, the Warren Commission issued its report concluding that Lee Harvey Oswald had acted alone in the assassination of President John Kennedy.

On this date:

In 1779, John Adams was named to negotiate Revolutionary War peace terms with Britain.

In 1825, in England, George Stephenson operated the first locomotive to haul a passenger train.

In 1904, a policeman in New York arrested a woman he had seen smoking a cigarette in a car on Fifth Avenue.

In 1939, during World War II, Warsaw, Poland was surrendered to the Germans after 19 days of heavy air raids and artillery bombardment.

In 1940, also during World War II, a pact was signed in Germany setting up the Berlin-Rome-Tokyo Axis.

In 1959, a typhoon that battered the Japanese island of Honshu killed nearly 5,000 people.

Ten years ago: Two U.S. Marine planes bombed a friendly village in South Vietnam by mistake, killing 28 mountain tribesmen.

Five years ago: President Richard Nixon and Emperor Hirohito of Japan met in Anchorage, Alaska. It was the first meeting between an American president and a Japanese Emperor.

One year ago: There was a storm of protest in Europe over the Spanish government's execution of five young political terrorists.

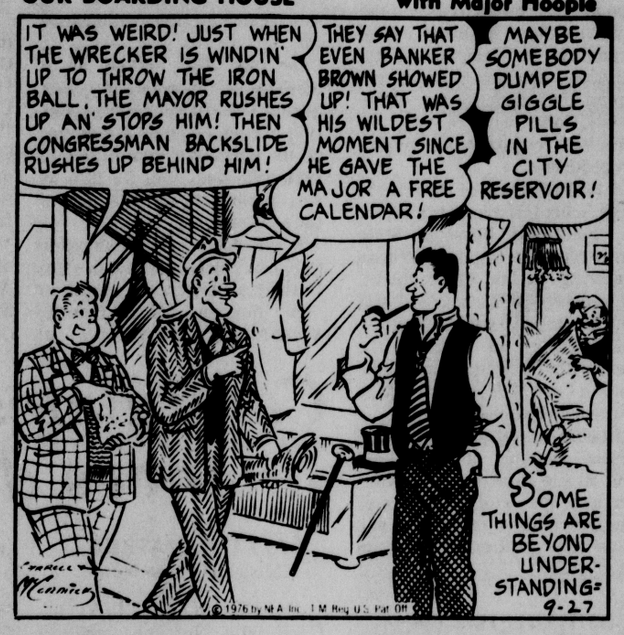

Today's birthday: Former movie star George Raft is 81.

Thought for today: The greater the power, the more dangerous the abuse. — Edmund Burke, British statesman, 1729-1797.

Hopkins to attend highway patrol academy

Mark Hopkins

PERRYVILLE— Mark H. Hopkins, formerly of Bloomfield and a member of the Perryville Police Department, is among officers from across the state who are scheduled to attend the Missouri State Highway Patrol Academy in Jefferson City. Hopkins, who left Sunday, will attend the academy for three weeks, and will receive extensive training in police procedures.

A 1973 graduate of Bloomfield High School, Hopkins is a senior at Southeast Missouri State University in Cape Girardeau majoring in law enforcement. He received an associate of arts degree in law enforcement in 1975. Prior to joining the Perryville force in June 1976, he was a member of the Cape Girardeau Police Reserves.

Hopkins is the son of Mrs. Arlene Hopkins of Bloomfield and Hestle Hopkins of Dexter. He and his wife, the former LouAnn Nelson of Bloomfield, have two children and live in Perryville.

Campaign law is still in effect

Candidates who think the campaign finance law is gone had better think again.

Cole County Circuit Judge Byron Kinder ruled the 1974 law unconstitutional last week but then withdrew a little to allow the law to remain in effect for the general election while the constitutionality of it is being appealed.

Kinder refused to withdraw his injunction stopping any public official from enforcing the law, but Anne Forry, executive director of the Missouri Elections Commission, says if the law is held to be constitutional they will enforce the law against those who did not file reports or otherwise violated the law while the appeal was in progress.

Armed forces

SAN ANTONIO — Airman Carl J. Wasbutsky, son of Mrs. Virginia D. Taylor of 730 N. Locust, Dexter, Mo., has been assigned to Keesler AirForce Base at Biloxi, Miss., for training and duty in the U.S. Air Force wire maintenance field.

The airman, who recently completed basic training at Lackland AFB is a 1976 graduate of Dexter High School.

Hetlage to head lawyers, judges state organization

ST. LOUIS — The board of governors of The Missouri Bar has named Robert O. Hetlage, a St. Louis attorney, president of the official state organization of Missouri lawyers and judges.

Hetlage, 44, succeeds Thomas D. Cochran, Independence, as head of the 10,000-member legal organization.

The election took place at the 97th annual meeting of The Missouri Bar which ended Friday at Stouffer's Riverfront Inn.

Named president-elect of The Missuri Bar was John R. Gibson, Kansas City. Bertram W. Tremayne Jr. of Clayton was elected vice-president.

The new bar president is a member of the St. Louis law firm of Peper, Martin, Jensen, Maichel & Hetlage. He is a past president of the Bar Association of Metropolitan St. Louis and has served as a member of the House of Delegates of the American Bar Associationsince 1973.

He has also served as a member of the board of governors of The Missouri Bar in 1968, 1972 and 1973 and as a member of its executive committee in 1974, 1975 and 1976. In 1976 he was named president-elect of the association.

A graduate of Washington University School of law in 1954, Hetlage also received a mast of law degree from George Washington University at

Robert O. Hetlage

Washington, D.C., in 1957. He is a member of the Order of the Coif and served as managing editor of the Law Review while in law school.

Hetlage has also served as president of the St. Louis Council on World Affairs (1966-1967), the Washington University Alumni Club (1972-1973)) and the John Marshall Club (1974). He was a member of the Washington University Alumni Club board of governors from 1972 to 1974.

On the national level, he served as chairman of the American Bar Association Standing Committee on Unauthorized Practice of Law.

as a council member of its real property and probate and trust law section and as a member of the council of the Junior Bar Section.

The new bar president and his wife, Anne, have three children.

Gibson, the new president-elect of The Missouri Bar, is a member of the Kansas City law firm of Morrison, Hecker, Curtis, Kuder & Parrish.

He is a native of Springfield and a 1952 graduate of the University of Missouri-Columbia School of Law.

He is a past president of the Kansas City Bar Association (1970)1971) and has been a member of the board of governors of The Missouri Bar since 1972. Last year, he was named vice president of The Missouri Bar and served as a member of its executive committee.

Tremayne, the newly elected vice -president, is a member of the Clayton law firm of Tremayne, Lay, Carr —and Bauer. He has been a member of the board of governors since 1973.

Board members elected to serve one-year terms as members of the executive committee, in addition to the above officers, were:

Stephen N. Limbaugh of Cape Girardeau; P. Pierre Dominique and Wade F. Baker of Jefferson City and Meredith B. Turner of Springfield.

Candidates should report finances during law appeal

By LAURA PATRICK
Missouri Press News

JEFFERSON CITY — Candidates in the Nov. 2 general election will still be required to report their campaign contributions and expenditures, despite a ruling that the Missouri Campaign Finance and Disclosure Law is unconstitutional.

Cole County Circuit Judge Byron Kinder will allow the campaign reporting law to remain in effect while its constitutionality is being appealed.

Kinder would not revoke, however, his injunction prohibiting the Missouri Elections Commission or the Attorney General's office from filing civil or criminal suits against persons accused of violating the law.

Anne Forry, elections commission executive director, said investigators will continue to scrutinize campaign finance reports during the appeal process.

"We're convinced that parts of the law are constitutional," she said. "If they (the candidates) don't file and the law is declared constitutional, they're going to be in trouble."

Should the entire law be reinstated, penalties for persons convicted for refusing to file or for submitting incomplete or inaccurate information include a maximum fine of $5,000 and/or a county jail sentence of up to one year. A person found guilty of making an illegal campaign contribution could be fined a sum equal to the amount of the illegal contribution.

Under the law a court which found that a successful candidate had "willfully violated" any of the disclosure requirements could declare the election results void and ask the governor to call a special election.

Drug used to replace hormones

By Lawrence E. Lamb, M.D.

DEAR DR. LAMB — A few years ago I had a hysterectomy and have been taking a pill called Premarin ever since. I was told I would have to take them for as long as I live. I'm now 35 years old. I would like to know why I should keep taking this pill and if I stop taking it what effect it would have on me?

Recently a doctor's nurse told me she had the same operation and has not taken any medicine since. It appears some doctors believe it should be taken and others believe the opposite. One doctor told me it would keep me younger looking. Is this so? I know many women would like an answer about this pill. No one seems to know much about it yet millions are taking it.

DEAR READER — Premarin is a mixture of various fractions of the female hormone, estrogen. It is normally used to replace estrogens if a woman is low in female hormones.

During a hysterectomy a doctor may remove the ovaries, depending upon the case. If he does so in a young woman she will have an early menopause. Estrogens are given to replace her normal hormone production. Even if the ovaries are not removed, the blood supply to them may be damaged during surgery and they may not continue to function as well as before.

Now there are variations in the need for the hormones. If a woman's adrenal cortex — the little gland over both kidneys — produces enough female hormones a woman may not have too much difficulty. Some women don't have this source of hormones to fall back on and don't produce enough.

The same situation applies to a woman when she goes through the menopause, or better stated, when her ovaries normally degenerate and stop functioning. If she produces enough hormones from other sources she may not have many changes but if she is not so fortunate then she will undergo changes associated with the menopause.

The estrogen hormones will help a woman who needs them for replacement in a number of respects. They help prevent changes in the cells of the vagina. They help prevent cellular changes in part of the bladder that often lead to recurrent bladder infections. The hormones prevent hot flashes. The rest of the benefits of female hormones is a subject for debate. Some claim they help prevent heart disease and perhaps degeneration of the bones.

The dangers are associated with an increased risk of cancer of the lining of the uterus that I have spoken of before. If you have had a hysterectomy as you have that is not a consideration.

Estrogen hormones are not advisable in patients who have epilepsy, migraines, asthma, cardiac or kidney diseases or other disease associated with an accumulation of fluid. The hormones cause the body to retain sodium just as the natural ones do.

In young women such as you, if there is no major reason against taking the medicine it is usually better to take it after a hysterectomy if the ovaries are removed or damaged.

Those interested in more information about female hormones can send 50 cents for The Health Letter number 5-12, Menopause. Send a long, stamped, self-addressed envelope for mailing. Address your letter to Dr. Lamb in care of this newspaper, P.O. Box 1551, Radio City Station, New York, NY 10019.

AUTUMN
by Dorothy E. Guess

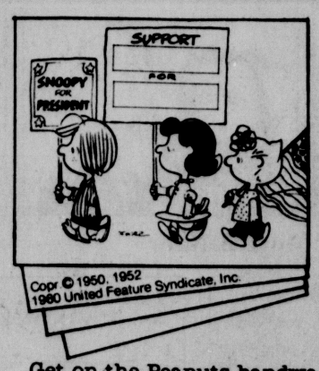

The autumn season enters in
as summer slips away.
Leaves begin to curl and turn
for the coming fall array.

Roses shatter sadly,
and lilies go to rest,
falling over quietly
in the mousy colored grass.

Gardens lose their dignity,
as plants die one by one,
Leaving only memories
of their fruitfulness, long gone.

Days grow quietly shorter,
Leaving time for dusky walks,
in leaves that crunch beneath your feet
as Mother Nature "talks".

Until the gray of winter,
one seldom ever notes . . .
that autumn came and stole away,
beneath her colored coats.

izations and has denounced the Syrian role in Lebanon.

But in Beirut, a spokesman for the Palestine Liberation Organization (PLO), the Palestinian umbrella group headed by Yasir Arafat, denied that any PLO members were responsible. Arafat also heads Al Fatah, which is considered to be less radical than some Palestinian guerrilla units.

A Syrian government statement said the four hostages who died Sunday were killed by the terrorists. Three of the slain hostages were women, and witnesses said all were Arabs. Three Americans were reported in the hotel at the time and one, National Broadcasting Corp. assistant producer Robert Castenbach, was taken hostage but was unharmed, the U.S. Embassy said.

4 planes crash in 6 hours

Air Force investigates jet wreckage

By The Associated Press

Air Force investigators examined the wreckage of a jet tanker today, trying to find the cause of a fiery crash that left 15 airmen dead and five injured. It was the worst of four plane crashes within six hours that killed a total of 35.

The tanker, used by the Strategic Air Command for air to air refueling, crashed in a rugged marshy area in an isolated section of northern Lower Michigan, 12 miles southwest of Alpena.

An eyewitness, Elmer Liske of Hubbard Lake, said the tanker went down suddenly. "It blew up, and I saw a big ball of fire," Liske said. "And then it exploded several more times."

The crashes Sunday in four states left at least 15 children orphaned — children of the four Johnson & Johnson subsidiaries' officials who died with their wives in a crash at Hot Springs, Va. Three crew members aboard the company-owned jet also were killed.

In Colorado, a lawyer and his wife returning to Denver from a meeting at a summer and ski resort in Steamboat Springs were among six persons killed in the crash of a twin-engine Aztec Piper which slammed into two propane fuel storage tanks and burst into flames.

And three persons died in Illinois when their single-engine aircraft plunged into the Illinois River near Peoria.

Air Force officials said there were five survivors of the crash of the KC135 tanker jet which went down near Alpena, Mich., sometime after 8:30 a.m. Sunday. That's when Wurtsmith Air Force Base last had radar and radio contact with the pilot.

Two majors, nine captains, two lieutenants and two sergeants died.

Three captains and a lieutenant from Kincheloe AFB and an airman 1st class from K.I. Sawyer AFB were admitted to Alpena General Hospital.

Four later were flown to Brooks Medical Center near San Antonio, Tex., for treatment for burns. All were listed in very stable condition today.

The fifth was released from the Alpena hospital early today, and Air Force officials said he would be a member of the accident investigation board.

The plane, carrying five crew members and 15 passengers, ripped a swath 50 yards wide and half a mile long before crashing into a swamp a mile from the nearest road, witnesses said. The largest remaining recognizable part of the aircraft, the military equivalent of a Boeing 707, was a 20-foot section of tail structure.

Survivors were airlifted to the hospital, and the 15 bodies were evacuated to a temporary morgue set up in the same building.

Capt. Charles Pinkard of Wurtsmith, near the crash site in Lower Michigan, said the jet was en route from K.I. Sawyer in the Upper Peninsula to Offutt AFB, Neb., with a stopover at Kincheloe.

He said most of the victims were scheduled to participate in a special training program at Strategic Air Command headquarters.

At Ingalls Field in Hot Springs, the wreckage of the Grumman Gulfstream II jet owned by Johnson & Johnson of New Brunswick, N.J., was spotted by helicopter about 1 p.m. The plane, carrying Johnson subsidiaries officials and their wives from Trenton, N.J., to a Pharmaceutical Manufacturing Association meeting at the Homestead Hotel, plunged into a fog-shrouded mountain ravine and caught fire about 500 feet below the runway.

The spokesman for the NTSB team dispatched to investigate the crash said early today that the pilot apparently made two passes at the runway before the crash.

Dennis Sutton, a Civil Air Patrol member who was the first at the scene, said the plane erupted in fire on impact — "It was totaled, burned. Everything was gone."

It was at about the same time that a twin-engine plane carrying Don R. Evans, partner in the Denver law firm of Yegge, Hall and Evans, and his wife struck two propane fuel storage tanks shortly after takeoff from the Steamboat Springs, Colo., airport.

Reagan says Ford had 'edge' on Carter in the first presidential debate

ST. LOUIS (AP) — If he accomplished one thing in his visit to Missouri this weekend, Ronald Reagan found that many Republicans had not forgotten his last visit to the state.

A Reagan far more relaxed than the man who lost the presidential bid to Gerald Ford last month at the Republican National Convention in Kansas City wasn't drumming up personal support this time.

In visits to Springfield Friday night and St. Louis on Saturday, the former California governor campaigned for state candidates and offered opinions on the two parties' platforms, the Ford-Carter debate and other matters.

Ford had "an edge" on Democrat Jimmy Carter in the first debate, Reagan claimed during both stops. And in St. Louis, he charged that the economic policies in the Democratic Party platform are "shockingly similar to Benito Mussolini's facism."

Reagan helped fashion the Republican platform.

Under the Humphrey-Hawkins "full-employment" bill and other Democratic programs, he said, "The federal government would dictate where you are going to work, how you are going to work, how much you're going to be paid and where your product can be sold."

Nowhere was the feeling of nostalgia for the former candidate stronger than in Springfield, scene of the state GOP convention in June in which he won 18 of 19 at-large state delegates to the national convention.

Every Republican candidate on the state ticket attended.

Atty. Gen. John Danforth, who is running for U.S. Senate, quipped, "The last time I saw Gov. Reagan, I was in this room. I was one of 38 candidates for 19 delegate positions at the Republican national convention...I really hope that that's the last election I will lose this year, and I promise you that it's the last election ever in which I'll finish 21st."

One of the plastic horns so evident at the Republican national convention groaned its approval whenever Reagan was applauded. And when he got up to speak, a bannaer was unfurled that said, "President Reagan 1980."

Reagan's appearance at a $50-a-ticket fund-raising dinner for John D. Ashcroft, candidate for attorney general, attracted more than 1,000 persons and was expected to net $38,000 for Ashcroft. Reagan was paid his standard fee of $5,000 plus $1,000 in travel expenses for himself and two aides.

Reagan appeared before 100 persons in St. Louis at a Lambert Field rally for Albert L. Kemp, state treasurer candidate. Walking through the airport concourse to a waiting car, he was applauded by passengers waiting for flights.

Reagan attended a private luncheon for Kemp before returning to California.

Inquest is ruled in the drowning of 4

BOLIVAR, Mo. (AP) — A coroner's inquest has been scheduled Tuesday into the deaths of a woman and her three young children, who apparently drowned when their car ran down a boat ramp into Pomme de Terre Lake.

Sheriff Glen P. Carson of Polk County said today he was continuing his investigation into the deaths because of varying reports on how the accident occurred.

Killed about midnight Friday were Nancy Myers Wylie, 36; her 3-year-old son, Richard Wylie, and her 8-year-old twins from a previous marriage, Karen and Kevin Myers. They lived in Humansville.

Their car reportedly rolled forward down a boat ramp at the lake, about 45 miles north of Springfield. The sheriff said Mrs. Wylie's husband, Jeffery Wylie, 30, told him the woman bumped his elbow and caused him to lose control of the car. Carson said Wylie also told him the brakes on the car failed.

A diver who located the vehicle told authorities he found the front door on the driver's side open, the ignition key on the dashboard and the automatic gearshift in the park position.

Carson said Wylie told him he got out of the car after it went into the water, and swam to shore.

Bell employes helped in FBI wiretaps

CHARLOTTE, N.C. (AP) — Bell Telephone Co. employes did the wiring for FBI wiretaps and cooperated with the FBI for more than 30 years in setting up wiretaps without court orders, the Charlotte Observer reported today.

The Observer said these wiretaps were put on the private telephone lines of such people as Dr. Martin Luther King Jr., Muhammad Ali and Dr. Morton Halperin.

The newspaper said it based its information on unnamed sources and statements by retired Bell official Horace Hampton. Hampton testified earlier this year in a lawsuit against Bell filed by Halperin, a former aide to Secretary of State Henry Kissinger at the National Security Council.

Hampton, who worked for Bell in Washington until 1971, testified that for more than 23 years he personally supervised at the FBI's request the hooking up of direct lines from an FBI listening post to private telephones in the Washington area, the paper said.

It said the taps were done under a law which allows the president or his designate to authorize wiretaps without a court order.

The Bell System, meanwile, insists the company itself never wiretapped anyone.

"All we're providing is the electrical path between two points which have to be connected in order to overhear the conversation by a third person," H.W. William Caming, a Bell lawyer, told the Observer.

Bell officials testifed in June before the House Commerce subcommittee that Bell employes who connected the FBI national security wiretaps did not have national security clearance. The officials said the employes were unaware they were installing wiretap connections, the Observer said.

The paper said in its Sunday editions that Bell employes across the nation have legally listened in on thousands of private telephone calls as part of their jobs.

"All our plant repairmen at anytime can overhear any call in the United States in their area, fully, and every operator (can) to some extent," Caming told the paper.

Litton memorial is announced by Future Farmers

KANSAS CITY (AP) — A memorial to the late Rep. Jerry Litton, D-Mo., was announced today by the Future Farmers of America and the Agricultural Hall of Fame at nearby Bonner Springs, Kan.

They announced at a news conference today that a color portrait of Litton, a former national secretary of the FFA, would be presented at the national FFA convention in Kansas City Nov. 10 and would be a permanent memorial at the agricultural hall.

Litton, his wife, their two childen and two others were killed Aug. 3 when their plane crashed on takeoff from the Chillicothe airport on a flight to Kansas City. They were planning to celebrate Litton's victory in the Democratic primary for the U.S. Senate.

"As a member of Congress, Jerry Litton initiated and supported legislation beneficial to American agriculture. He was looked upon as the political voice of the agricultural community," Charles B. Jennings, chairman of agribusiness activities of the Chamber of Commerce of Greater Kansas City, said at a news conference today.

Sales, production of aerosols down as the controversy spreads

By LOUISE COOK
Associated Press Writer

Scientists say more time is needed to determine the degree of danger posed by fluorocarbons in aerosols, but some consumers, legislators and manufacturers already have decided they'd rather switch than study.

Production of fluorocarbons has decreased. Sales of aerosols are down — partly because of the controversy and partly because of the recession. Two states have passed laws regulating fluorocarbons in spray cans. And a government official has recommended that consumers stop using aerosols and switch to spray pumps or rollons instead.

A long-awaited report by the National Academy of Sciences was released earlier this month. The group concluded that "selective regulation of fluorocarbon uses and releases is almost certain to be necessary at some time...." It also said, however, that "neither the needed time nor the needed severity can be reasonably specified today."

The academy recommended further study — for a maximum of two years — before regulatory action is taken. Meanwhile, it said, aerosols that do contain fluorocarbons as propellants should be clearly labeled as such so that consumers can decide whether to use the items.

Over half of the fluorocarbons produced in the United States are used as propellants, primarily in personal grooming products such as deodorant and hair spray. The arguments have centered on these fluorocarbons — rather than the ones used as refrigerants and in manufacturing — because they are the ones that are released into the atmosphere immediately.

Scientists have said that fluorocarbons weaken the layer of ozone that surrounds the earth and is a primary shield against ultraviolet radiation which causes skin cancer.

The question still to be answered is how severely and how rapidly the ozone is being depleted.

The Chemical Specialties Manufacturers Association said 1975 sales of aerosols were about 10 to 15 per cent lower than a year earlier, although Gus Fromuth, associate director of the group, said part of the drop was due to the recession. "People were not buying discretionary products," he said.

Some manufacturers of grooming products have been pushing other finger-driven pump sprays and roll-ons as cheaper, nonaerosol alternatives. The market research firm of Towne-Oller said a study showed that nonaerosols had a 23.5 per cent share of the women's hair spray market in dollar terms in the last quarter of 1975, up from only 4 per cent in 1973.

Bills on fluorocarbons have been introduced in about a dozen states, but only two states have acted — Oregon, which will ban fluorocarbons as aerosol propellants effective March 1, and New York, which is requiring labeling, starting next year, to the effect that fluorocarbons in spray cans may be harmful to the environment.

Sen. James B. Pearson, R-Kan., has introduced legislation in Congress requiring a similar warning label, but there is no time for action on the measure this year.

Pemiscott sheriff's wife files suit to determine remarriage

CARUTHERSVILLE — Mrs. Jessie M. Shelly, wife of Pemiscot Sheriff Thad O. Shelly for the past 28 years, has filed a separate maintenance suit against him, seeking to determine if he has remarried. She claims he has not divorced her.

Ouster proceedings were filed against the southeast Missouri sheriff earlier last week charging him with six counts of violating the state law in connection with alleged irregularities in his office.

Shelly has refused to answer questions about his marital troubles "because it's my own private business."

However, the former Betty Richardson, who now lives in a Caruthersville apartment with Shelly, told a reporter she is married to the sheriff but refuses to say when they were married.

"It's a secret date," she said.

Mrs. Jessie Shelly said Shelly left their home in Hayti on or about Aug. 11, according to a petition filed in Pemiscot County Circuit Court. They were married Dec. 31, 1947.

She said she has never consented to a separation. A list of interrogations attached to the petitions seeks to determine if Shelly has married again and if he has transferred property or insurance policies to Betty Richardson. Jessie Shelly is seeking $750 a month in support for her and a 15- year-old son, Phillip Lane.

In an earlier interview with a St. Louis newspaper Shelly said he lives with the former Betty Richardson in a Caruthersville apartment "and everything's legal." But he refused to say when and where he got divorced or remarried.

Shelly's half brother, Martin Ray, said he knows of no divorce from the first Mrs. Shelly.

Shelly recently won renomination on the Democratic Party ticket for another four-year term. He faces token Republican opposition in the Nov. 2 general election. He denies any wrongdoing.

He became sheriff in 1971 as a reformer after former Sheriff Clyde Orton was ousted for misconduct in office.

The ouster proceeding against Shelly stemmed from alleged failure to turn over all of the fees he has collected, failing to enforce gambling laws and several lesser charges.

He is the subject of an investigation by Prosecuting Attorney Mike Hazel, the Missouri Highway Patrol and the state auditor's office.

New Madrid Miss American Legion

Tax cut may be in order, joint committee says

WASHINGTON (AP) — With the government reporting a 10.7 per cent jump last year in the number of persons who are poor by its standards, Democrats and Republicans on the Joint Economic Committee of Congress agree another tax cut may be in order next year to spur the economy.

The yearly increase in the number of persons living in poverty was the second in a row and brought the total to 25.9 million persons, roughly one American in eight.

The Census Bureau blamed the increase in 1975 to the whipsaw effect of high inflation in the midst of recession, together with the widespread exhaustion of unemployment benefits last year.

At the same time, the report said that despite an $818 increase in median family income to $13,720 a year, inflation dragged the buying power of that income down 2.6 per cent, the lowest level in five years.

The government defines the poverty level as $5,500 for a nonfarm family of four.

The Census Bureau report was described today by Democratic presidential candidate Jimmy Carter as a clear "indictment of economic mismangement" by the Ford administration.

In remarks prepared for delivery to a group of labor leaders meeting in Portland, Ore., Carter said: "Mr. Nixon and Mr. Ford have made these people poorer in the same way that Mr. Hoover made people poorer in the 1930s — by denying them the chance to work.

"The Republicans pay lip service to work but they veto bills that would create jobs. They have become a party not of work but of welfare."

The poverty level is determined by computing the cost of a basic nutritionally adequate diet and multiplying that by three, based on the finding that poor people spend one-third of their income on food.

Of the families below the poverty level, 68.7 per cent were white, 47.5 per cent were in families headed by women and 95 per cent lived in nonfarm communities.

On the question of future tax reductions, although Republicans and Democrats on the panel agreed that further cuts may be needed, they differed on the role that federal spending should play.

Democrats, headed by Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey, D-Minn., chairman of the committee, said that holding spending at current levels would restrict economic growth. But Republican members said spending above current levels would destroy the private sector's ability to create new jobs.

There also was this economic news:

—The Council on Wage and Price Stability, the government's inflation monitor, said that aluminum prices remained up during the recession despite market forces that normally would push prices down.

—No progress was reported in bargaining between the United Auto Workers and Ford Motor Co. The union walked out 13 days ago and both sides are said to be divided on several major issues, including wages, pensions and health care.

Congressmen trying to end business Saturday

WASHINGTON (AP) — With senators and congressmen anxious to get on with the business of campaigning, the 94th Congress hopes to complete its major legislative business by Saturday night.

Unfinished business includes bills dealing with the Arab boycott, Washington lobbyists, clean air, offshore oil leases, revenue-sharing and possibly two more vetoes from President Ford.

The House was scheduled to start off today with a $5.1-billion foreign aid appropriation bill and the Senate was still considering a controversial civil rights enforcement bill.

House and Senate leaders say they would like to finish up and go out of business Friday night but that the House may have to stay until Saturday night.

All 435 House seats and 33 of the 100 Senate seats are up for re-election Nov. 2.

Democratic Whip Robert Byrd, D-W.Va., told the Senate that on top of everything else there will be congressional override votes if President Ford vetoes the $56-billion Labor-Health, Education and Welfare department appropriation bill and an antitrust bill.

House-Senate conferees expect to agree on a bill to impose a stiff ban against U.S. participation in the Arab boycott. The House bill would go beyond that and prohibit U.S. companies from boycotting Israel.

Opponents and some supporters say the Arab boycott bill will jeopardize some of the estimated $7-billion U.S. trade with Arab countries and therefore put some Americans out of work.

Another conference committee is deadlocked on the clean air bill. The clean air bill among other things would impose automobile exhaust standards on manufacturers.

There is some doubt that conferees can reach any agreement on the bill, but more and more House conferees say they might give in and accept the stricter Senate bill.

The House is to act on a bill Tuesday to manage oil drilling off all U.S. coasts and send it to the Senate for Congress' final action.

Then the House is to take up a bill to require public disclosure of Washington lobbyists' activities. A compromise would have to be worked out later with a Senate bill.

Two other major unfinished bills would extend sharing of federal revenues with the states and stiffen grain inspection standards in the wake of inspection scandals in New Orleans and Houston.

Another bill added to the list Friday by the Senate Foreign Relations Committee would veto a $30-million sale of Maverick missiles to Saudi Arabia. This is part of a proposed $5-billion U.S. arms sale to Persian Gulf countries.

Sen. Clifford Case, R-N.J., who proposed the disapproval resolution on the Saudi Arabia missiles, said the missiles would tend to destabilize the Middle East balance of power.

Injunction bars Grimm from hearing petition

The Missouri Court of Appeals, Springfield District, has issued a permanent injunction against Judge Stanley Grimm, circuit judge of the 32nd Judicial Circuit, hearing a petition seeking a recount in the Aug. 3 primary election contest for 33rd Judicial Circuit judge between incumbent Judge Marshall Craig and challenger Tony Heckemeyer, both of Sikeston.

The petition of primary election contest was filed Aug. 13 in Scott County Circuit Court by Heckemeyer, who trailed Craig by 12 votes after the canvass of votes in the Aug. 3 primary election was completed.

In a preliminary hearing Aug. 17, Judge Grimm had set Sept. 4 to hear the case.

However, on Aug. 30, Craig filed a petition in the Missouri Court of Appeals for a writ to prohibit Grimm from hearing the petition.

At that time, the Court of Appeals issued a temporary writ prohibiting Judge Grimm from hearing the case until a final decision could be made by the Court of Appeals. The ruling was handed down Friday.

When contacted this morning, Heckemeyer said his attorneys would go to Jefferson City today to seek further action by the Missouri Supreme Court.

3 hung by Syrians after hotel raid

DAMASCUS, Syria (AP) — The Syrian government hanged three pro-Palestinian guerrillas at dawn today in swift retribution for a bloody raid on a Damascus hotel just 24 hours earlier.

A fourth guerrilla and four hostages were killed and 34 hostages were wounded in a seven-hour battle for the Semiramis Hotel in the most daring Palestinian attack yet in Syria.

The three surviving terrorists were hanged in a public square facing the luxury hotel. Their bodies, clad only in white tunics, were left dangling in nooses for six hours as thousands of Syrians pressed around the gallows and climbed to balconies and rooftops to see the victims.

The guerrillas called themselves the "Black June" group and apparently were protesting Syria's military intervention that began last June in the Lebanese civil war.

Before they were executed, the three went on Syrian state television and said they belonged to Al Fatah, the biggest Palestinian guerrilla group. They also said they had been trained in Iraq, which has supported radical Arab organ-

Television among items stolen

A color television set, several guns and a man's suit were reported stolen over the weekend, according to Department of Public Safety officials.

Richard James, 1010 Maude St., reported Friday that a color television set valued at $200 was taken from his home between 8 a.m. and 2 p.m. Friday.

Officers said the home was entered by breaking through the back door.

The theft of 15 handguns and three shotguns from the TG&Y Family Center at Kingsway Mall was reported Friday by store manager Gary DeWitt. DeWitt told public safety officers the total value of the guns was $1,700.44 and that they were missing from a gun case, which had not been broken to open. The theft was discovered during a routine check at the store.

Louis Wiggins, 17, of 1508 W. North St. was arrested for stealing over $50 in connection with the theft Friday of a $100 men's suit from Graber's Store at Kingsway Mall.

Three sales clerks saw a young man take the suit into a restroom. He then came out of the restroom without the suit and left the store.

The suit was recovered from the rest room Wiggins was later identified by a witness as the person who had taken the suit, and was arrested by public safety officers.

Police investigate attempted burglary

CHARLESTON — Police are investigating an attempted burglary, a report of a stolen car, a citizens band radio theft and a vandalism incident reported over the weekend.

Joe O'Neal, co-woner of O'Neal and Howard Pharmacy, 406 S. Main St., reported at 8:01 a.m. today an attempt had been made to enter the pharmacy sometime between 6 p.m. Saturday and this morning.

A back door on the northeast side of the building was damaged during the attempted breakin.

Mina Mefford reported her car was stolen sometime between 6 and 9 a.m. Saturday from 1224 Charleston Ave.

The car, a white 1973 Ford LTD with Kentucky license DDV-070 was unlocked, but the keys were not in the ignition.

Raleigh Cox, owner of Economy Furniture, 209 W. Commercial St., reported to police at 10:50 a.m. Sunday that a window in his store had been broken sometime between 5:30 p.m. Saturday and Sunday morning, apparently by a bottle found lying on the sidewalk in front of the store.

A citizens band radio valued at $59.95 was stolen between 6:55 and 8:45 p.m. Sunday from an automobile owned by Herschel Eaker of 609 S. Ninth St.

The locked car was parked in front of the Assembly of God Church on South Main Street when the theft occurred.

3 injured in area traffic accidents

Three persons were injured in two area traffic accidents Saturday and Sunday, the highway patrol reported today.

Two persons were injured in a two-car collision Saturday at 11:35 p.m. on Highway 160 three and a half miles east of Doniphan in Ripley County.

The patrol said the accident occurred when an eastbound car driven by Richard Lee Allen, 21, of Doniphan stopped to pick up a hitchhiker and was struck from behind by another car being driven east by Robert Worley Johnson, 35, of Anderson, S.C. The Allen car burned after impact.

Wendell Warren, 22, of Doniphan, a passenger in the Allen car, suffered moderate injuries and Johnson received minor injuries. Both were taken to Ripley County Hospital in Doniphan.

A one-vehicle accident at 8 p.m. Sunday on Mount Pisgah Road eight miles south of Fredericktown caused minor injuries to one person.

The patrol said Kenneth E. Ham, 17, of Fredericktown lost control of his westbound car on loose gravel and the vehicle ran off the road and struck a tree. Robin R. Boyer, 16, of Fredericktown, a passenger, received minor injuries and was taken to Madison County Memorial Hospital in Fredericktown.

Officer injured in fight in East Prairie parking lot

EAST PRAIRIE— A disturbance and altercation with police officers early Saturday morning at a downtown parking lot resulted in the arrest of seven persons and the issuance of warrants for two others, according to Mississippi County Sheriff W. J. "Pedro"sSimmons.

Charges of peace disturbance, interfering with a police officer, resisting arrest and assaulting a police officer were filed against Roy Presson Mannon, 29, of East Prairie, who is being held in Mississippi County jail at Charleston under $2,000 bond.

Charged with peace disturbance and interfering with police are Ricky Joe Abernathy, 18, Steve Monroe Norman, 17, Paul D. Summerfield, 22, and Ricky Pickett, 19, of East Prairie, Sammy Dale Morgan, 19, of Charleston and Sandra Louise Delashmet, 19, of Charleston Route Two. All were being held in Mississippi County jail this morning under $1,000 bond each.

Warrants have been issued for the arrest of George Mannon and Tim Brown of East Prairie.

The incident reportedly occurred about 2:40 a.m. Saturday at the Checkerboard Square parking lot when a group of young people gathered on the lot and created a disturbance by making loud noise and using obscene language.

The group estimated at 25-30 presons failed to disperse upon the request of police, and off-duty officers and the highway patrol were called for assistance.

East Prairie Police Sgt. Bill Grissom was reportedly struck in the face with an object by Roy Mannon as the officer placed him under arrest and was attempting to put him in the police car.

Grissom was taken to Missouri Delta Community Hospital at Sikeston for treatment of facial cuts which required a number of stitches to close.

During the altercation, Deputy Sheriff Dennis Turley was reportedly hit over the head with a bottle, but he did not seek medical treatment.

According to a statement by Grissom, the other persons arrested began to interfere as officers were struggling with Mannon attempting to get him into the police car. Mannon allegedly kicked the right rear window out of the car after he was put inside.

Mannon's brother, George, is also accused of striking Grissom in the face with his fists. He reportedly fled the scene when the highway patrol arrived.

Those arrestted are scheduled to appear Thursday in Magistrate Court.

Shuffit charged in shooting

NEW MADRID — A charge of felonious assault with a dangerous and deadly weapon has been filed in New Madrid County Magistrate Court against J. W. Shuffit, 51, of Canalou, who is accused of shooting his father-in-law, William Bishop, 57, of Canalou.

The shooting occurred about noon Friday at a house one mile northeast of Canalou, where the men had gone to unload some furniture they had moved from Benton.

Bishop was shot in the left side of the head with a .32- caliber revolver. He is in fair condition at Missouri Delta Community Hospital in Sikeston, according to New Madrid County Deputy Sheriff willis "Bo" Wingo, who said the bullet passed through the bridge of Bishop's nose and exited on the right side.

Reportedly, the men had been drinking and became involved in an argument while sitting in the truck at the house. Bishop told officers that when Shuffit threatened him, he got out of the truck to go inside the house. As he was standing on the porch getting a key out of his pocket, he said Shuffit came up on the porch and shot him.

Shuffit has been released under $5,000 bond.

UNCLE SAM'S UNEMPLOYMENT PROGRAM

A sad story of how a bungling federal government bureaucracy put one small businessman out of business is retold by Rep. John H. Rousselot (R-Calif.) in the September issue of "Congress Today!" — published by the National Republican Congressional Committee.

Ed Sohmers was head of Marlin Toy Products, Inc. of Wisconsin. In November 1972 the U.S. Food and Drug Administration notified Marlin that a toy it manufactured was deemed unsafe. The toy, which had been made by Marlin for 10 years with no safety complaints, was a plastic ball filled with colored pellets. FDA contended a child could swallow the pellets if the ball broke.

Mr. Sohmers dutifully recalled the toy at a cost of $95,000 and removed the pellets. So far, so good.

Then, in 1973 as Mr. Sohmers and his 85 employees — many of whom were handicapped — were producing the plastic ball and other toys for the holiday season that year, FDA relinquished its toy safety role to a new federal agency, the Consumer Product Safety Commission.

"In the process," related Rousselot, "some of the paperwork on the Marlin plastic toy went astray. Shortly thereafter, the Commission published a banned products list and sure enough, the Marlin plastic toy was on the list."

Some 250,000 copies of the list were sent by the Commission to thousands of toy shops. And the agency refused to recall them even after the disastrous error was called to its attention by Marlin. The incorrect list caused toy cancellations throughout the country, leading to a $1.2 million loss for Marlin which had to lay off all but 10 of its 85 workers.

Marlin is now out of the toy business, thanks to Uncle Sam's own patented unemployment program. Which brings to mind this quote from Ronald Reagan: "Too many people have lost their capacity to get angry at government. It should be restored."

IT'S EQUAL, BUT IS IT SPORTS?

The Ohio High School Athletic Association seems to have the ridiculous notion that there are physical differences between boys and girls.

It has a rule, anyway, that forbids girls to play on boys' teams in contact sports, such as football and basketball. Schools belonging to the association, which includes all of the public high schools and most of the junior high schools in the state, as well as the majority of private secondary schools, have to abide by it if they want to compete in sanctioned interscholastic games.

The superintendent and board of education of the Yellow Springs, Ohio, school system have taken the matter to U.S. District Court in Dayton and are suing to have the rule declared unconstitutional. They contend that by forcing them to discriminate in sports on the basis of sex, the rule puts them in violation of guidelines set by the U.S. Department of Health, Education and Welfare.

What the plaintiffs are apparently most concerned about, however, is not the question of an equal break for girls but the possibility that the violation could cause them to lose thousands of dollars in federal aid they now receive.

The Ohio High School Athletic Association counters that the rule was actually designed to insure girls an opportunity to play sports. Possessed as it is with the idea that girls are not, on the average, as big and strong and fast as boys, it argues that few girls would qualify for boys' teams, but more girls would be able to play sports if all-girl teams were available.

It also suggests that this sexual equality thing can work two ways.

"What happens," asks association commissioner Harold A. Meyer, "if seven or eight boys cut from the boys' basketball team decide they want to be on the girls' team? You laugh, but in Illinois in 1965, the Dixon High School bowling team came to the girls' statewide tournament with four boys and one girl and proceeded to win the tournament."

We aren't laughing. Believe us, we aren't laughing.

CHEWING'S LESS HAZARDOUS?

New hope for people who want to kick the cigarette habit is reported from England. Doctors at the Addiction Research Institute at London's Maudsley Hospital have been testing "nicotine gum" to help wean people off the weed.

Since nicotine is apparently the source of the stimulus smokers get from tobacco, by chewing the gum they can satisfy their craving without the other hazards of smoking, such as tar and carbon monoxide.

Nicotine even in gum form is still a poison, however, and the gum is intended only as a temporary substitute for tobacco to tide smokers over their withdrawal problems. Eventually the gum has to be given up, too, but the fact that it tastes lousy is a big help.

The experiment has been quite successful, says the Institute. About 40 per cent of the smokers who have used the gum have remained nonsmokers for at least a year. The unusual success rate among smokers receiving only psychological treatment is less than 5 per cent.

ALARMING SOLUTION TO FALSE ALARMS

Everybody likes to see fire engines racing down the street, their sirens wailing. Some people like it so much that they turn in alarms just for fun.

False alarms have become such a problem in some communities, in fact, that a number of them have simply resorted to removing alarm boxes from the streets. One of them is Oakland, Calif., whose experience seems to be typical of cities its size.

In fiscal 1973-74, Oakland recorded 10,477 false alarms. Even figuring a very low $7 cost for each response for fuel consumed and wear and tear on equipment, these false alarms cost the city's taxpayers more than $73,000. This is not to consider the unnecessary risk to life and limb.

In an article in "Fire Command!", a publication of the National Fire Protection Association, battalion chief Hannes M. Andersen relates how Oakland tried all kinds of ideas to stop false alarms—cameras, dye and stinkum on street boxes, stake-outs, school programs and informational bulletins distributed door-to-door.

Some of them helped a little, but others actually made the problem worse by reminding potential offenders that street boxes existed and could be used as toys.

The Oakland Fire Department then contacted other cities to see what they had done. Of 51 cities, 37 indicated that they had a false alarm problem, and of these, 33 had removed some or all of their boxes.

Oakland eventually removed 87 of its most troublesome boxes, and even though false-alarm culprits are still playing games, the city does not plan to remove nonoffending boxes or those causing a "liveable" level of false alarms.

Within the next two years, however, an automated 911 telephone system will go into service in the greater Oakland area. When the 911 system is fully operative, says Andersen, "Oakland intends to take a hard look at its remaining street boxes."

TIME TO STAND UNITED

Missouri Democrats could help their own cause by making an early decision on the U.S. Senate nomination. Personally we favor former Governor Warren Hearnes because he was the second best vote getter and has actively campaigned for the job. The other possibilities so far mentioned were not active candidates and have put forth no effort to see the job. Democratic big-wigs state that Hearnes can't beat John Danforth, but they can't be sure until Hearnes runs the race. It's a lead-pipe cinch that the other candidates can't do any better. Hearnes can beat John Danforth and Joe Teasdale can beat Kit Bond if the Democrats will stand together once again and back their candidates. We feel Jerry Litton would want his supporters and his backers to stay with the party and elect the candidate chosen to replace him. Regardless of who is the candidate for the U.S. Senate from Missouri, you can bet they have studies and taken heed from the way Jerry Litton promised to let the people know where he stands and to bring the government to the people. people. Litton knew that it would take a united effort on the part of the Democrats to put him in the Senate in November and he united the party. Lets keep it united and accept without question the decision of the State Committee. Remember the famous statement? United we stand, divided we fall.....If ever we needed to stand together, it is now!

'I DIG YOU— FOR NOW'

National Geographic News Feature

Proud parents won't be the only ones watching brides march down the aisle. Clergymen, society editors, etiquette experts, poll takers, wedding shop owners, and other students of the passing parade will be watching, perhaps more sharp-eyed than ever before. They'll be looking for changes in how Americans get married and how they feel about weddings.

One key question: Are weddings going out of style—traditional Here-Comes-the Bride weddings with white gowns, formal invitations, ritualized "I dos," rice-throwing, fits, honeymoons, and a big bill at the end for the father of the bride? "Do-your-own-thing" weddings of the counter-culture generation have challenged rigid tradition and nobody yet knows whether these informal ceremonies have cooled off in popularity the way political activism has on campuses and in inner cities.

"The Bride Wore Bare Feet and Bell Bottoms" read one headline on a story of an open-air countryside wedding. The newlyweds made up their own ceremony:

I, John, take thee, Mary, to be my woman, to work for the liberation of all people, to love, embrace, to commit ourselves to do battle through the journey which is the celebration of life." Often eliminated is any traditional reference to the bride "obeying" her husband, and "until death do us part" might become "as long as we both shall love,' adding the "relevance" the couple feels is now missing.

According to one estimate, 80 to 90 per cent of weddings in the United States remain traditional, usually in houses of worship. America's wedding business exceeds 7 billion dollars a year.

Besides new words and untraditional music for ceremonies, couples may now draw up formal contracts agreeing on who is responsible for what household duties, on how to rear their children—even on who gets what in case of divorce. Some think marriage agreements also should decide whether the wife should be paid for washing dishes and wiping runny noses, and whether the husband should be paid for mowing the lawn and washing the car.

So far, the father of the bride still has exclusive rights on paying for the wedding, unless he can talk his daughter into eloping.

KNOW YOUR PRESIDENTS?

FRANKLIN D. Roosevelt was the only U.S. President elected to four terms—19332, 1936, 1940 and 1944. John Tyler fathered more children than any other U.S. President—15 by two wives. How much do you know about other Presidents?

Here's a quiz to test your knowledge. Choose the right answer to each question

1. How many Presidents has the United States had? (a) 33; (b) 38; (c) 43.

2. Which was the youngest at the time of his inauguration? (a) John F. Kennedy; (b) John Quincy Adams; (c) Theodore Roosevelt.

3. Which was the oldest at the time of his inauguration? (a) William Henry Harrison; (b) Harry S. Truman; (c) Andrew Jackson.

4. Which state is the birthplace of eight Presidents? (a) Connecticut; (b) Virginia; (c) New York.

5. How many Presidents have been assassinated in office? (a) 2; (b) 4; (c) 6.

6. Who was the only bachelor President? (a) James Buchanan; (b) Thomas Jefferson; (c) Martin Van Buren.

7. Who was the only President elected twice without succeeding himself? (a) George Washington; (b) Grover Cleveland; (c) Woodrow Wilson.

8. Which President served the shortest term in office? (a) William Henry Harrison; (b) Richard M. Nixon; (c) James Garfield.

9. Which two Presidents lived the longest? (a) Harry S. Truman and Dwight D. Eisenhower; (b) Thomas Jefferson and John Quincy Adams; (c) John Adams and Herbert Hoover.

10. Which of the following Presidents is not buried in Arlington National Cemetery? (a) John F. Kennedy; (b) Woodrow Wilson; (c) William Howard Taft.

SERMONS WE SEE

I'd rather see a sermon than hear one any day.

I'd rather one should walk with me than merely show the way.

The eye's a better pupil and more willing than the ear;

Fine counsel is confusing, but example's always clear;

And the best of all the preachers are the men who live their creeds,

For to see the good in action is what everybody needs.

I can soon learn how to do it if you'll let me see it done.

I can watch your hands in action, but your tongue too fast may run.

And the lectures you deliver may be very wise and true;

But I'd rather get my lesson by observing what you do.

For I may misunderstand you and the high advice you give,

But there's no misunderstanding how you act and how you live.

INVESTIGATING THE MARINES

The U.S. Marine Corps was never intended to be a country club, but neither was it supposed to be a chamber of horrors. And yet, despite the periodic promises of reform, the abuse of recruits at the Corps' Parris Island and San Diego boot camps seems to continue.

One of the most brutal and inexcusable incidents occurred at San Diego last December when a Texas recruit, Pvt. Lynn McClure, was beaten into unconsciousness by his fellow recuits while training personnel stood by. McClure was no ordinary recuirt. He had been turned down by the Army and the Navy as mentally unfit. But the Marine Corps, which likes to boast about its superior standards, took him, perhaps because its recruiting program was lagging at the time.

Pvt. McClure died as a result of the beating and the Marines launched an investigation. But when it was all over and a court-martial had been held, no one was found guilty of any charge.

Fortunately, the matter has not been dropped. A House Armed Services subcommittee, chaired by Representative Lucien Nedzi of Michigan, has been conducting hearings into Marine Corps training policies. And the Corps itself now gives physical exams to every recruit within 72 hours of his arrival at a training base. The Corps has also abandoned the use of pugil sticks, which caused other serious injuries before McClure's.

In the past the Marine Corps, like the FBI and the CIA, was considered such a sacred cow that, in the eyes of the legislators, it could do no wrong. It is good to see that some hard questions are being asked at last. We hope they will lead to permanent reforms.

The Red Jackal:
Despite U.S. Billion Dollar Loans Tito's Yugoslavia Covers Up World's Toughest Communist Territorists

WASHINGTON — Some time during midday, Sept. 6, Illich Ramirez- Sanchez, who international police units believe to be the world's toughest, smoking gun, terrorist, arrived at Surcin airport, outside of Belgrade, Yugoslavia by commercial airliner from Algiers.

Sanchez, cover name Carlos (known to the CIA as the Jackal), according to global counter-terrorist sources, had come to "get a fix" on the American embassy and Ambassador Larry Silberman there.

Hitting an embassy isn't new to Carlos, who arri ved with two tough Germans from the anarchist Baader- Meinhoff group and three other terrorist operatives. In September 1974 he directed the seizure of the French embassy in The Hague, Holland.

On Sept. 9, after four days in and around Belgrade, in and out of "safe houses" prepared for him by the Yugoslav secret police according to the knowledgeables, Carlos- Sanchez and his band of killers and bodyguards casually booked flight, and left on a regular jet, for Baghdad, Iraq.

This is one of the nations, along with Algeria and Libya, which reportedly provide safe havens, money, forged travel and identification papers and arms for his group of some 40 hit men and women.

It is this international Communist group which plotted the hijacking of the French airliner that carried so many Israelis who were the hostages so dramatically rescued at Entebbe, Uganda.

When the jaunty 27-year-old Venezuelan- born Carlos and his group arrived at Surcin airport, Sept. 6, they were spotted by West German intelligence agents who long have sought Sanchez – today's Che Guevara - - to nail him on his hijacking offenses. The Germans also are working with the French who want him for murder.

Garlos's band, however, was protected by Yugoslav counterintelligence agents who were wary of the Germans. Marshal Tito's secret police gave Carlos's group safe conduct to the safe houses and other assistance.

However the Germans, the French, the Dutch and the Americans made official protests to the Yugoslav foreign ministry. Under the international Hague anti-terrorist convention to which Tito's Yugoslavia is a signatory Belgrade was committed to extradite the killer band, or at least Carlos. Or, in some way punish "the Jackal."

However, the U.S. State Department received no reply. But on Sept. 16, a spokesman for the Yugoslav foreign ministry, Mirko Kalezic said, "I am authorized to state that the reports are inaccurate about an alleged stay of a group of terrorists, including Carlos, in our country."

Note that he used only the cover name for Illich Sanchez, who carries automatic weapons as Beau Brummel sported gloves. Incidentally, Carlos works closely with Cuban embassies everywhere and is aided by a member of the Communist party secretariat of Colombia, South America.

Then Kalezic added that his government as of Sept. 16, had not received any protest from the U.S. on the hospitality to Carlos.

That's a lie. The American Embassy officially protested shortly after Carlos's arrival. A high State Department official told me that "we protested to the Yugoslav government ... one point we made was that they are signatories to the Hague convention ... we did not get any answer."

In such a fashion is the United States mocked by the nation which has received many billions of dollars in American aid.

Further, the Export- Import Bank of the U.S., not too long ago, lent some $900 million to Yugoslavia which is ruled by something called the League of Communists and is controlled by a brutal secret police system. In addition Marshal tito's totalitarian land gets special favored nation treaty status on exports to the U.S. means Yugoslavian goods come in at a lower tax rate -- therefore competing with domestic production.

And Yugoslavia gets special treatment from our government's agricultural credit corporation. They get special low purchase rates on American farm products – and long- term credits.

In exchange for all this America has been called a liar in this case of Carlos, who is wanted in 12 nations for bloody killings, including seizure of the OPEC council in Vienna, during which there was a slaying. For years, newsmen such as myself have been bugged and placed under constant surveillance during visits there.

The Yugoslavs' radio and other propaganda have attacked the U.S. mercilessly. Their secret police have fought America everywhere. And now they have played host to the leader of the world's toughest terror band.

Why doesn't the Senate Intelligence Committee probe that one? Or isn't a piddling $900 million worth it? Not to mention the past billions?

WASHINGTON MERRY-GO-ROUND

A Break for Tax Cheats

with Les Whitten

WASHINGTON -- Over the strong protests of his own enforcement officials, Internal Revenue Commissioner Donald Alexander last year struck a key question off the income tax forms. The question, which simply asked the taxpayers whether they maintained a foreign account, was intended to catch tax evaders.

Big-time criminals, from corporate embezzlers to mobsters, use secret foreign bank accounts to escape paying U.S. taxes. The taxes they avoid, of course, must be made up by the honest taxpayers.

The question about foreign bank accounts has been used by the IRS to trap tax cheaters. In the biggest tax haven case in history, for example, Ohio businessman Jack Payner has been indicted for falsely answering "no" to the question.

Yet Alexander began maneuvering to remove the foreign bank account question from the tax form even before he was sworn in as Internal Revenue commissioner. It is an interesting coincidence that his former Cincinnati law firm has been linked to a tax haven bank in the Bahamas.

An IRS informant in the Bahamas swiped a Rolodex off the desk of Michael Wolstengroft, director of the Castle Bank and Trust. Three cards on the Rolodex contained names of lawyers in Alexander's old firm. We were able to reach only one of the attorneys, who said he had no idea how his name got on the Rolodex.

On May 22, 1973, exactly one week before Alexander took his oath of office, he began a behind-the-scenes campaign to eliminate the foreign bank account question from the tax forms. He forwarded a letter, dealing with an unrelated subject, from a South Carolina lawyer to the IRS committee that deals with tax forms. In an accompanying memo, intended for official eyes only, Alexander brought up the foreign bank account question.

He followed the memo with pressure to remove the troublesome question from the tax forms. This was opposed by his enforcement people. John Olszewski, then the IRS intelligence chief, wrote in a confidential memo: "The loss of this (question) would seriously restrict our efforts to identify those who would use foreign banking facilities in avoidance and evasion schemes."

A similar memo from Edward Morgan, then the assistant treasury secretary in charge of enforcement, also advised Alexander that the question "is a factor in the Treasury Department's efforts to combat the use of foreign bank accounts to facilitate illegal activities." Morgan added sternly that "dropping it from the tax returns at this time would be counter-productive."

Yet Alexander ignored the advice of the law enforcement experts and finally succeeded in removing the question in June, 1975. The notes of the confidential IRS meeting indicate that he didn't even consult the Treasury and Justice Departments before finally striking the question off the tax forms. Alexander's attitude was betrayed by his remarks to a group of public accountants. "We have knocked out the foreign bank account question at long last," he told them.

Footnote: An IRS spokesman admitted there had been disagreement over the question's removal but insisted Alexander's actions were beyond reproach. Meanwhile, Rep. Charles Vanik, D-Ohio, has introduced legislation that would force the IRS to reinstate the foreign bank account question.

SUSPICIOUS THAIS: The Thai government is quietly investigating a questionable deal between a Thai airline and a U.S. aircraft manufacturer.

The Thais want to find out why the airline, Thai International, paid McDonnell Douglas Corp. $2 million more per plane than was charged to ther airways. Thai investigators are also suspicious, say our sources, because the government-owned airline made a down payment before the transaction was approved by the Thai cabinet. This violated government regulations.

As part of the investigation, the Thai government has sent its communications secretary, Dr. Gun Nagamiti, to the United States to do a little probing. He has met privately with Securities and Exchange officials and Senate investigators.

A McDonnell spokesman told us it was against company policy to discuss the terms of the Thai transaction. We have obtained a confidential cable, however, in which the corporation's president, Sanford N. McDonnell, denies any impropriety. Corporation officials have also assured the Thais privately that the company did not "bribe or promise to pay money to any airline or government official." A spokesman for the Thai embassy confirmed the details of the investigation.

Footnote: In an unrelated investigation, the Securities and Exchange Commission has been looking into payments by McDonnell to foreign officials. The company has already admitted that approximately $2.5 million was paid to officials of foreign governments or government-owned airlines between January, 1970 and June, 1975.

PRAISE FOR NAZI: After weeks of shilly-shallying, the United States Information Agency has admitted it erred in broadcasting an eulogy over the Voice of America about a dead ex-Nazi. We revealed that the VOA praised the late Joseph Pauco as a great patriot, although he had edited an anti-semitic, pro-Hitler paper during World War II in his native Slovakia.

Both the Anti-Defamation League and the American Jewish Committee protested to USIA head James Keogh. Now Keogh has admitted the eulogy should have noted Pauco's Nazi past. The three VOA employes responsible for the broadcast have been reprimanded.

Kidnaped woman leery of rescuers

JACKSONVILLE, Fla. (AP) — After four days of helplessness — bound, gagged and blindfolded in dense woodland — Sheri Linda Jaffa, the kidnaped wife of a wealthy land developer, wasn't sure she could trust her rescuers.

Even as Jacksonville Police Chief Matt Touchton worked with knife and scissors to cut her bound wrists early Sunday, Mrs. Jaffa demanded to see his badge. The men who abducted her last Wednesday had been dressed as policemen.

But the rescue was real, and her husband, Richard, was soon at her side.

"I can't recall what she said when we first saw each other. The big thing is seeing. We kissed and it was the greatest kiss we ever had," her husband said.

Jack McWilliams, 39, the brother of Jaffa's business partner in a Jacksonville contracting business, was charged with the kidnaping and held under $750,000 bond.

He was arrested in jail, where he was serving a weekends-only jail sentence imposed in another case.

Investigators said Mrs. Jaffa's rescue in a wooded area came after McWilliams' girl friend, Edith Burton, 22, broke down under questioning at the jail in Macclenny, 30 miles west of Jacksonville.

"She drew us a map to lead us to the spot but I took her in my car and made her show us," Asst. State Atty. Wayne Ellis said.

Mrs. Burton, who told police she helped in the abduction, hid under a cover in the back seat of the car because she didn't want to see Mrs. Jaffa again, Ellis said.

"We called out ... heard her groan and found her," Ellis said. It was just a mile from her home.

Mrs. Jaffa, 35, was hospitalized for exposure and abrasions but was reported in good condition and high spirits today.

Rescuers said Mrs. Jaffa was badly bitten by mosquitoes and scraped on the back and head from trying to work herself loose from the post to which she was tied, which was similar to a railroad tie and six-feet tall. Her bonds were nailed to the post.

"She wanted to know if her husband and children were all right," Touchton said. "She was in excellent condition for the situation. She had been exposed to rain, heat, cool nights and the tape over her eyes and mouth which naturally makes the skin sore."

Jaffa said his wife will not meet with reporters to discuss her ordeal.

"The most important thing is to get life back to normal," Jaffa said. "She is already discussing a possible European vacation."

After the kidnap, Jaffa received a $200,000 ransom demand. He got $50,000 together, and a trail of notes directed him to leave the money at a spot in the Ocala National Forest.

The money was never picked up, and when the kidnapers made no further contact, Jaffa and his two children made a televised appeal for Mrs. Jaffa's release.

FBI agent Arthur Nehrbass said the accused man, a native of Lumpkin, Ga., is the brother of Aubrey E. McWilliams, a partner with Jaffa in Spectra Builders.

Apartment fire deaths puzzle police

NEW YORK (AP) — Police admitted today they are still baffled as to why a Chinese couple and their daughter plunged from a window of their fourth-floor apartment while about $74,000 in cash was burning in a bucket in the apartment.

Ark On Leo, 76, a retired laundryman, and his wife, Yuk Lin Leo, 67, died in the fall. Their daughter, Fe Hong Leo, 44, was in critical condition and still unconscious today at Elmhurst Hospital.

Police said another $24,000 in cash was found in the apartment unburned.

One police officer theorized the family might have been carrying out a religious rite in which the money was burned "as a way of making sure you get into heaven."

But fire officials noted that another window of the apartment led to a fire escape, and said the trio might have been fleeing the smoke from the burning money and gone out the wrong window.

Police said firemen were first at the scene of the tragedy in the Sunnyside section of Queens after someone saw smoke coming from the Leos' apartment Sunday morning.

The fire in the pail was quickly put out with little damage to the apartment.

Meanwhile, a neighbor spotted the bodies. The daughter was rushed to the hospital, where she underwent surgery for a brain injury.

One police officer ruled out foul play.

By Polly Cramer

Inflation Fighter

DEAR POLLY — Water was accidentally spilled on the top of my veneered television cabinet. It was not wiped up immediately. The result is a bunch of wavy ridges. Other than a complete repair job, is there anything to lessen these ridges? — MRS. L.K.B.

DEAR MRS. L.K.B. — I presume the veneer has split where it popped up. You might try placing a cloth that has been wrung out of hot water over these ridges to soften the veneer. Check often, so it does not make white spots. When ridges are pliable, furniture glue might be put under the loose pieces (a match or toothpick could be used to help spread it). When pushed back into place, wipe off excess glue. You can use a rolling pin or other similar object to roll veneer down flat, cover with waxed paper and weight it down in place with a lot of heavy books. Leave until glue is thoroughly dry, which might be a day or two. If this does not work, I think a professional refinisher will be needed. — POLLY.

DEAR POLLY — My Pet Peeve is that so many clothes, especially those for children, are made of beer label prints. There are so many it is getting sickening. — MRS. E.G.S.

DEAR POLLY — When your roll-on deodorant is getting low, keep the bottle turned upside down in the cabinet. You will be surprised how many more times you can use it.

I keep an old blouse hanging on the bathroom door, so when I am dressing I can put the blouse on while combing my hair or finishing with my make-up. This saves the dress I have put on. — ETHEL.

DEAR POLLY — Last week when I was on the bus, a lady got on who did not have the correct change. This can happen to the most careful people. After it happened to me a couple of times I started keeping a pill bottle in my purse. It is large enough to hold the necessary quarters, so now when I have any dimes and quarters they are dropped into this bottle. Both the bus driver and I are saved a lot of frustration. This also comes in handy when I go to the laundromat. — SARAH.

Dear Consumer

Is Your Brown Bag A Bacteria Bag?

By Virginia Knauer
Special Assistant to the President and Director
Office of Consumer Affairs
Department of Health, Education and Welfare

If you miss several days of work—or the children have to stay home—because of a "bug" that is going around, your "bug" may not be "the bug" at all—but a mild case of food poisoning.

According to Agriculture Department's Animal and Plant Health Inspection Service (APHIS), many consumers suffer through bouts of food poisoning because of improperly packed foods. And believe it or not, this food is most often found in that innocent brown bag that your family takes to school or to the office.

Most germs that cause food poisoning are killed when the food is cooked. But some germs that produce poisons are not destroyed by heat, or they can be reintroduced by improper food handling after cooking. In addition, leaving food at room temperature for too long—usually two hours—can allow germs to grow to dangerous numbers. This is why brown bag lunches are such a prime candidate for infecting your family with food poisoning.

To insure that your brown bag meals are safe—as well as nutritious—APHIS provides these tips for safe preparation and packing of homemade lunches:

- When preparing lunch, keep utensils and countertops clean by washing them thoroughly with soap and water. Also wash your hands—if you have any cuts or sores on them, use rubber gloves; otherwise bacteria can be transmitted from cuts in your hands to the food.
- Avoid using fingers to place meat, poultry or cheeses in the sandwich. APHIS recommends using tongs or a fork.
- Keep hot food, like soup, hot by pouring it at boiling temperature into a sterile vacuum bottle. Bacteria thrive between 45 degrees F and 115 degrees F; keeping the food at 212 degrees F will keep it free from harmful germs.
- Keep cold foods cold. If there is an employee refrigerator at the plant or office, it would be best to store the lunch in it.
- If you do not have access to a refrigerator, you can still keep food cool: Fill a plastic margarine tub with water, putting the lid on tight and then freezing it. This form of refrigeration should keep food chilled until meal time.
- Another way to keep lunches safe is to freeze sandwiches. If put frozen into a lunch bag, they will thaw by meal time, and, while thawing, will keep the rest of your lunch cool.

"more spice than everything nice"

American husband needed so divorcee can stay here

EAST ALTON, Ill. (AP) — "White English lady seeking marriage for immigration purposes," read the advertisement placed by Mrs. Susan Spurrier in a weekly newspaper.

Since it appeared last week, the attractive 28-year-old divorcee has been so deluged with phone calls, many of them obviously pranks, that she got an unlisted number.

She plans to sift through applications from prospective husbands, seeking a marriage that will allow her and her two young children to remain in the United States.

"It's not a prank," she said Saturday. "I'm doing this because I love my children and want them to have the schooling and other benefits Americans are entitled to."

Mrs. Spurrier faces deportation because she was never properly registered here as a resident alien. She has been ordered to leave the country by Dec. 31 unless she finds another American husband.

The East Alton woman said she disregarded the advice of friends to seek a husband through the normal channels of dating.

"That takes time," she said, "and time is the thing I don't have right now.

"I got the idea from the English newspapers, which often carry such ads in the personal columns from Australian or Indian girls who must marry an Englishman in order to stay in England. Apparently, this sort of thing doesn't happen so often here."

Mrs. Spurrier was divorced last March from her first husband, Calvert Spurrier, whom she met while he was stationed with the U.S. Air Force in England.

She said she was told by an Immigration Service officer that the only way she could remain in the United States was to have an American husband sign the papers for a resident alien card. Her former husband never completed the paperwork for the card and now lives in Alaska, she said.

The woman was first ordered to leave last spring, but through the intercession of Rep. Paul Findley, R-Ill., the order was extended twice, first to June 19 and then to Dec. 31.

Remarriage is a last resort if all other legal remedies fail, she said.

Her advertisement in a Wood River weekly reaped about 40 replies in the first two days, and soon the phone calls began to follow.

"They're calling from all over — Florida, California, some in the middle of the night," she said. "One of them calling from California said he was a Spurrier and related someway to Calvert and would jump on a plane right away if I said yes."

She plans to screen written applications, which are to include biographical information, personal likes and dislikes and a photograph.

If the new marriage results in love, that would be alright too, said Mrs. Spurrier, who lives with her children Julian, 2½, and Janel, 13 months, in this small community near St. Louis.

"If it happens, it happens, but this is just something separate to keep my children here," she said. "He would have to like my children."

Protein supplements not advised for diet

This column is a service from Cooperative Extension Nutritionists at Lincoln University and the University of Missouri. Questions from readers about food and diet are welcomed. Letters should be addressed to: Dr. James W. Nordstrom, Nutrition Extension, Lincoln University, Jefferson City, MO. 65101.

A good friend of mine has started selling a line of health foods. He says that all older people need a protein supplement to give them energy. What do you say?

A. In the first place, protein should not be added to diets to furnish energy. Carbohydrates (sugars and starches) and fats are more efficient and cheaper as energy suppliers or "fuel" nutrients. The primary value of protein is for growth and maintenance of muscle and other tissues of the body including hair, skin, lining tissues of the digestive tract, etct, etc. When more protein is consumed than is needed for growth and maintenance, the excess levels are used for energy, and may also be stored as fat. Possible harmful effects from excess protein include the unnecessary burden that is placed on the kidneys and an increased loss of calcium from the body.

Your friend is also in error about all older people needing more protein. The fact is that nutrition surveys have not found evidence for widespread lack of protein among older people, or for any age group for that matter, in our country. A small percentage of older individuals are consuming marginal amounts of protein because they are not eating properly. In such cases the addition of some protein- rich foods to the diet like milk, cheese or meat could easily solve the need for more protein.

The best way to obtain the nutrients needed for health is to eat nutritious foods in a balanced diet. This can be achieved by following the guidelines of the four food groups to include in each day's diet: Two glasses of milk (or three ounces of cheese); two servings of meat, fish, eggs or beans; Four servings of fruits and vegetables (including one of citrus and a serving of dark green or deep yellow vegetable at least every other day); and four servings of bread and cereals. Note that these are minimums, and most of us will tend to eat more food than this.

If additional vitamins and iron are considered desireable in the diet, the best and cheapest way to obtain them is by purchasing a complete vitamin and iron supplement. These are available in capsule form to be taken as one pill each day. Most grocery stores and drug stores carry them at a reasonable cost. It is a good idea to avoid buying vitamins or food supplements of any kind from door-to-door salesmen because their prices are usually much too high.

Ann Landers

Swine flue information sought

Dear Ann Landers: Please tell me (and millions of others) what this swine flu thing is all about. I need some no-nonsense answers to the following questions:

Why is the U.S. government spending $135 million on a project when there is no evidence that there will be a swine flu epidemic?

When will the shots be available to the public?

Is there a chance that a person can get swine flu from the shot?

Who should take the shot? Who should NOT take it?

Is the shot safe for pregnant women?

How effective will the shot be?

What are the possible side effects?

Where will the swine flu shots be given?

How much will they cost?

Are YOU going to have a swine flu shot?

Thanks for your help. It's wonderful to have somebody to turn to for reliable information. -- We Appreciate You In New York.

Dear N.Y.: The U.S. government is spending $135 million on the swine flu project because it believes in preventive medicine. There may be no epidemic but if one should occur it could be devastating. In 1957-58, over 70,000 peopele in the U.S. died of the Asian flu. In 1968-69 the Hong Kong flu claimed 30,000 lives.

The swine flu shots will be a ailable by Oct. 1. Assistant HEW Secretary Dr. Theodore Cooper estimates that the shots should protect about 85 per cent of those who take them. (The other 15 per cent should get milder cases than if they had no shot at all.)

There is NO chance that a person will get the flu from the shot because the vaccine is made of a killed virus. The only significant side effects MAY be a sore arm and a fever. (The government ran an experiment on 6,000 volunteers. Out of those who received the swine vaccine, 1.9 per cent developed a fever that lasted about 24 hours or less.)

Should children get the shot? The researchers are still working on dosages for children under 18. However, those children who are inclined to get fevers should NOT get the shot.

It is strongly recommended that adults over 18 get the regular swine flu shots (200 units of A-New Jersey-76). For the high-risk population (those over 60, those who have chronic heart disease, respiratory problems, diabetes -- or cancer patients who are in treatment), a combination of the swine flu vaccine and A-Victoria-75 is recommended.

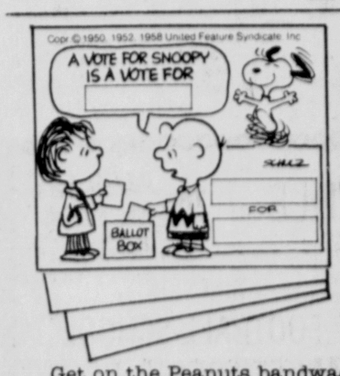

There is no reason why a pregnant woman should not take the swine flu shot.

It has been emphasized that the shot should NOT be taken by individuals who are allergic to eggs (this includes pregnant women).

The shots may be obtained from your physician, who may charge for an office visit but NOT for the vaccine. (He gets it free.) After Oct. 1, phone your local health department and ask where and when the shots will be offered in your city. They will be free.

Am I taking the swine flu shot? You bet I am. I'll be one of the first in line the moment they are available.

It's not always easy to recognize love, especially the first time around. Acquaint yourself with the guidelines. Read Ann Landers's booklet, "Love or Sex and How To Tell the Difference." For a copy, mail 50 cents in coin and a long, stamped, self-addressed envelope with your requesst to Ann Landers, P. O. Box 1400, Elgin, Ill. 60120.

Grid Cardinals find going rough against charged-up Chargers

SAN DIEGO (AP) — The surprising San Diego Chargers aren't quite ready to call themselves contenders yet, but they don't mind if everyone else does.

And Sunday's stunning 43-24 victory over the defending National Conference Eastern Division champion St. Louis Cardinals has people talking about the Chargers contending for a playoff berth.

"Are we a contender?" said Charger head Coach Tommy Prothro, repeating a question after his team improved its record to 3-0 against the favored Cardinals.

"At least today we are," he decided. "We won our first two but this is the first real good team we've played and we wanted to find out how good we really were."

What the Chargers discovered was they have an awesome offense, one that even outshined the offensive-minded Cardinal attack. And only a year ago San Diego finished last with a 2-12 record.

"We were awfully high today," said Prothro. "If we play like this every week we're going to be awfully tough to beat."

The Chargers, sparked by the passing of Dan Fouts and the running of Don Woods and Ricky Young, rolled up 451 yards total offense enroute to their first 3-0 start since 1968.

Fouts completed 15 of 18 passes for 259 yards, including four touchdown passes. His scoring strikes included 44 and 18-yard connections with Dwight McDonald, a 30-yarder to Charlie Joiner and a oneyard toss to Pat Curran.

"We obviously had an excellent game plan for them," said Fouts, who credited Bill Walsh, the team's first-year offensive coach, with an excellent afternoon of calling the plays.

"The big key was getting off to the fast start," Fouts said. "Our design called for some long passes to test them deep and when we succeeded it really loosened things up."

The Chargers moved 72 yards in only two plays following the opening kickoff. A 59-yard Fouts pass to Joiner took San Diego to the Cardinal 13 and Woods scored on the next play.

The Cards bounced back to lead 10-6 on a 14-yard scoring pass from Jim Hart to J. V. Cain and a 32-yard Jim Bakken field goal.

A three-yard scoring run by Young and three Fouts touchdown passes in the second period put the Charges ahead, 33-10 at the half.

"San Diego has to be very proud of its team," said Cardinal Coach Don Coryell. "The Chargers really came to play football and they had a beautifully conceived offensive plan.

"They have fine athletes and fine spirit and they beat us badly. We have no excuses. It could have been that they could have beaten anybody today."

The 43 points scored by the Chargers represented their highest total since 1971. They now are tied with the Oakland Raiders for the AFC Western Division lead, while St. Louis is 2-1.

Denny and Cruz help Redbirds stop Pirates

ST. LOUIS (AP) — At least two young members of the St. Louis Cardinals are intent on proving good can come from a bad season.

John Denny and Hector Cruz paced the Cards to a 5-2 victory Sunday over the Pittsburgh Pirates and looked forward to brighter days.

"I think my big objective this year was to at least match what I did last year," said Denny after halting the Pirates on four hits through seven innings.

While Denny was spellbinding Pittsburgh and boosting his record to 11-8, Cruz was playing the roles of a Jekyll and Hyde.

First he erred by trying to advance to third base from second on Garry Templeton's grounder into the hole at shortstop.

His blunder cost St. Louis a big inning in the fifth but an inning later, undaunted, he smacked a changeup by Bruce Kison, 14-9, for his 12th home run.

"I felt bad about what happened the inning before," he acknowledged. "Their shortstop (Frank Taveras) made a good play, but I shouldn't have gone."

Cruz' homer, solidifying his position as the Cards' leader in the department, was accompanied by a single that raised his batting average to .226.

"He's come a long way since April," Murtaugh said of Cruz, who was hitting .193 at the All-Star break. "He's leading the club in home runs. He'll be a good ball player."

Pittsburgh's loss, suffered as the Philadelphia Phillies were clinching the National League East title, was the Pirates' seventh in 10 games.

Nine days earlier, while riding the crest of a hot spell, the club had pulled only three games back of the Phils with 15 games yet to play.

"They say streaks follow streaks," suggested Dave Parker, the Pittsburgh right fielder. "At one time nobody could beat us, then we turned around and couldn't beat anybody else."

Pisarkiewicz praizes his understudy

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Steve Pisarkiewicz glanced at the center of attention in a boisterous Missouri dressing room. Pete Woods, his successor as the Tigers' quarterback, was surrounded by writers.

They were pressing Woods to say how he engineered a 22-21 upset Saturday at Ohio State, the nation's No. 2 ranked college football power.

Pisarkiewicz, idled with a gimpy shoulder injury, supplied some answers of his own.

"Any kind of a clutch situation there is to face he faced today. He came through. I just can't say enough about him," said Pisarkiewicz, considered a sure-fire pro prospect.

"I didn't want to give him any strategic advice," the No. 1 Missouri quarterback said of his understudy, making his first varsity start. "I just tried to keep him as cool as I could. I tried to relax him."

Woods, a 6-foot-4, 210-pound junior, said, "I was not nervous. I've been sitting around waiting for my chance. The only thing I was hoping was that I wouldn't blow it."

Woods didn't. He dissected Ohio State's pass defense for 113 yards and two touchdowns, 31 yards to Joe Stewart and two yards to Leo Lewis. Curt Brown ran four yards for the other Missouri score.

"Woods is a good runner and passer. He doesn't have the zip on the ball like Pisarkiewicz. The only thing he lacked was game experience. He had played only in the last quarter of Illinois and a few games last year," said Missouri Coach Al Onofrio.

"Under the conditions existing," said Onofrio, "this was the greatest football game a Missouri team ever has played."

A subdued Woody Hayes, Ohio State's coach, mumbled, "They wanted to win it more than we did. They deserved it."

Woods, bidding for the vital two extra points in the hectic final seconds, misfired on a pass to Brown. But a Buckeye holding penalty gave him a second chance and he ran it in himself.

"I just saw daylight and got hit before I got to the goal. I was lucky enough to get in," said Woods of the play that handed the Buckeyes (2-1) their first home loss in 26 games. Northwestern last beat Ohio State 14-10 in the home finale in 1972.

Missouri wiped out a 21-7 halftime deficit, built on a trio of two-yard touchdown runs by 239-pound fullback Pete Johnson. The Tigers are 2-1.

Anemic K.C. loses: magic number 3

ARLINGTON, Tex. (AP) — Kansas City Manager Whitey Herzog is anything but happy and brimming with confidence although his Royals own a 4½-game lead with a week to play in the season. He says he's worried that the club is going to bow to the pressure of the American League West Division race.

"I'll be honest. I don't see how we're ever going to win another game," said Herzog after the Texas Rangers beat his Royals 3-1 Sunday.

The Royals open a three-game series with second-place Oakland tonight in Oakland, which has seven games remaining to Kansas City's six.

Hitting, or the lack of it, is Herzog's major concern. The Royals scored only three runs in the three-game series against Texas and have managed just eight markers in six games.

"I've never seen anything like it," said Herzog. "They are so tight they look afraid to hit the ball. They looked like they're scared to win another game."

Don Faurot named committee leader

JEFFERSON CITY — The Citizens Committee for Conservation, which is seeking funding for an expanded wild life and forsestry conservation program in Missouri, has named Don Faurot, legendary football coach and athletic director at the University of Missouri, as its honorary chairman.

The Citizens Committee has put on the Nov. 2 ballot by initiative petition a proposal for a one-eighth of one per cent sales tax which would be Constitutionally dedicated to wildlife and forestry programs. It will be Amendment One on the ballot.

Faurot, an avid outdoorsman, has long been interested in conservation and said he welcomed the chance to do something to help Missuri's conservation program.

Faurot invented the Split-T offense which is the base of most modern football offenses. For that and his long career, he is a member pf the National Football Hall of Fame and the Missouri Sports Hall of Fame.

Sikeston teams busy

Tonight's Sikeston High School sports schedule finds action slated in football, volleyball and tennis.

The junior varsity football team will go for its second victory of the season tonight when they travel to Charleston. It will be the first road encounter for the 1-1 jayvees.

The volleyvall team, sporting a 2-1 slate, goes to Charleston to rake on the Bluejay netters. Sikeston is coming off a surprising victory over Poplar Bluff last Thursday night.

The SHS girls tennis team puts its perfect 4-0 record on the line as they host Caruthersville in the first real test of the season Sikeston has won three consecutive matches by 11-0 scores, but now must get by Caruthersville, the only team to defeat them last season.

Phillies sweep twinbill to wrap up East race

"We're only one third of the way there, but it's a big step," says Philadelphia Manager Danny Ozark. "I feel we've got the best club in baseball."

Ozark's club took the first step towards backing up that contention Sunday by clinching the National League's East Division title with a 4-1 triumph over Montreal in the first game of a doubleheader. After a between-games champagne party, the Phils came back to complete the sweep with a 2-1 victory in the second game, shortened to seven innings by rain.

The Phils will meet the defending champion Cincinnati Reds for the National League crown in the best-of-five playoffs. Should they survive that test, they would meet the American League representative in the World Series.

Greg Luzinski's three-run homer off Montreal starter Dan Warthen, 2-9, in the sixth inning was the decisive blow as Philadelphia mathematically eliminated Pittsburgh to win its first title since 1950, when the "Whiz Kids" took the National League pennant on the last day of the season. The Phils' only other pennant year was 1915.

The Phils erased an early 1-0 deficit in the nightcap on run-scoring singles by Jay Johnstone in the third inning and Tim Blackwell in the sixth.

Thefts are up, murders down as overall crime rate edges up

WASHINGTON (AP) — Thefts increased 11 per cent and murders declined 6 per cent as the over-all U.S. crime rate edged upward during the first six months of this year, the FBI reported today.

Of the seven crime categories measured by the FBI's Uniform Crime Reports, theft was the only one showing an increase nationally. But that 11 per cent jump boosted the over-all crime rate 3 per cent, compared with the same period in 1975.

The FBI statistics are based on the number of crimes reported by 9,160 state and local law enforcement agencies. Other studies, however, have shown that the number of crimes reported to police is far lower than the number actually committed.

Atty. Gen. Edward H. Levi noted that the 3 per cent over-all increase is much less than the 13 per cent surge in the first half of 1975, compared with the same period a year earlier.

"While the trend is encouraging," he said, "there remains a net increase in serious crime — a clear reminder that all segments of the criminal justice system must continue working to solve the problem."

Nationally, the FBI reported that murder was down 12 per cent, rape and assault each declined 1 per cent, robbery dropped 10 per cent, burglary dropped 5 per cent and motor vehicle thefts fell 3 per cent.

The sharp increases in theft occurred in all population categories and in all parts of the country. The surge ranged from 5 per cent in Western states to 18 per cent in the Northeast, and from 9 per cent in cities between 500,000 and one million in population to 16 per cent in cities over one million.

With two exceptions, the four violent crime categories — murder, rape, robbery and assault — declined in all parts of the country. The exception was a 5 per cent increase in rape and a 4 per cent increase in assault in Western states.

Murder and robbery declined in all population categories, but rape increased slightly in medium-sized and small cities and assaults rose from 1 to 5 per cent in cities of 100,000 or less.

Among the nation's largest cities, Chicago, Los Angeles and Philadelphia reported fewer crimes in the six-month period, compared with the same period a year ago, while New York and Houston reported over-all increases.

The number of crimes dropped from 109,978 to 104,629 in Chicago, largely because of decreases in rape, robbery, assault and burglary. But murders increased from 408 to 423.

In Los Angeles, 111,403 crimes were reported in the 1976 period, down from the 112,813 a year ago. Philadelphia listed 36,923 this year, down from 39,419 a year ago.

The FBI said New Yorkers experienced 314,000 crimes in the six-month period, up from 264,958 a year ago. Murder, rape and assault declined, but robbery, burglary, theft and vehicle theft rose sharply.

In Houston, the total was up from 42,692 last year to 48,457 this year and most of the increase was in the category of theft.

Kansas, Missouri murder rate figures show decrease in '76

WASHINGTON (AP) — All major cities in Kansas and Missouri posted a decrease in murder and non-negligent homicide for the first six months of the year, according to figures released by the FBI Wednesday.

The FBI compiles six categories of "serious" crimes reported to police and also keeps close statisticl tabs on motor vehicle thefts. The six serious categories are murder and non-negligent homicide, forecible rape, robbery, aggravated assault, burglary-breaking or entering and larceny-theft.

Here are the serious crimes reported by law enforcement agencies in cities over 100,000 in Missouri and Kansas for the first six months of 1976:

MISSOURI

Independence—Murders decreased from 2 to 1, rapes decreased from 13 to 10, robberies decreased from 43 to 31, assaults decreased from 137 to 91, burglaries from 706 to 667, thefts increased from 1,742 to 1,942 and auto thefts decreased from 160 to 154. The cities crime index increased from 9,684 to 10,073.

Achievement tests are scheduled

Sikeston Junior High School students will take achievement tests Thursday and Friday.

On Thursday, eighth grade students will take the Science Research Associates (SRA) test. Testing will end at approximately 3:15 p.m. The ninth grade will be out of school that day. On Friday, ninth grade students will take the Iowa Test of Educational Development (ITED) and the eighth grade will not be in school. Ninth grade testing will end at approximately 2:15 p.m.

At the close of testing on both days, students who live within walking distance or whose parents pick them up may leave. Others will remain at school and ride buses at their regular times.

Hearnes campaign funds still suffers

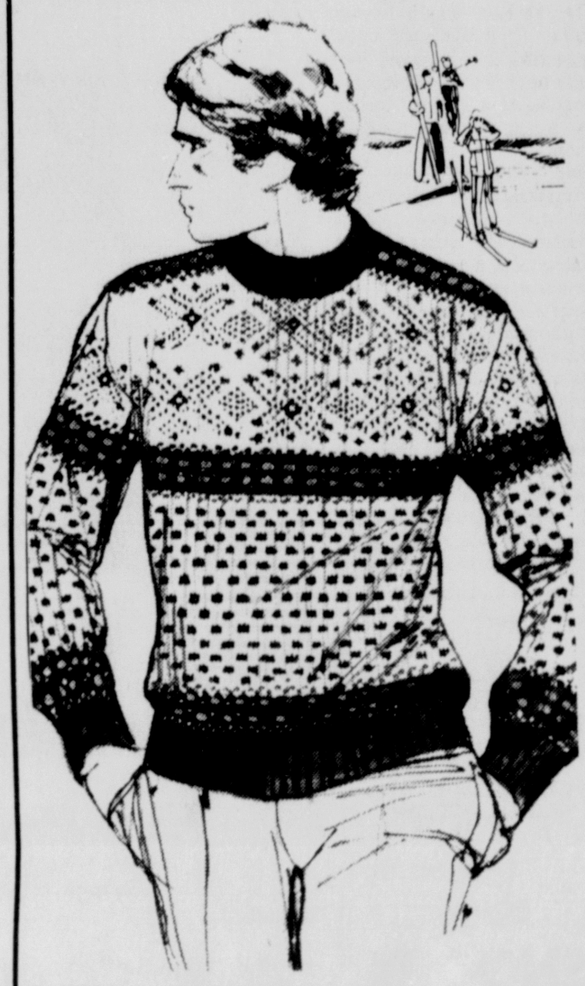

First he was, then he wasn't. So went the political campaign career of David K. Martin, hired recently to be Warren Hearnes' U.S. Senate campaign manager.

Martin was hired, made the rounds of meeting the capital press, did some preliminary work but then was let go within a week when money problems precluded a hired staff.

Hearnes, who ended the primary campaign with less than $25 in the bank for his campaign committee, also tried to persuade Danforth to forego any advertising at all other than jointly appearing with Hearnes at debates throughout the state.

Danforth rejected that offer, which drew the expected criticism from Hearnes, and money problems for the Hearnes campaign do not seem to be getting any better.

News in brief

Teasdale suffered a political defeat last week when he couldn't get his nominee installed as chairman of the state Democratic party.

Teasdale's choice, St. Louis attorney Brendan Ryan, couldn't get any of the three male members of the First Congressional District's members on the Democratic State Committee to step aside for him. Membership on the committee is a requirement for a party chairman.

Several St. Louis party conflicts conspired against Ryan, and he and Teasdale finally surrendered gracefully rather than risk agitating other Democrats.

Instead of Ryan, the committee settled for John McIlroy of Bowling Green again. McIlroy had been called to replace James Spain when Spain resigned as chairman earlier this year. Ironically, McIlroy had to get someone to assent to give up his seat for McIlroy so he could serve as chairman. He was successful, however.

George Lehr was active on another front this past week, suggesting that a grand jury might be called to look into the selection of a site in Kansas City for a medium security prison.

But Commissioner of Administration J. Neil Nielsen and John Cooper, state director of design and construction, denied any need for such an inquiry.

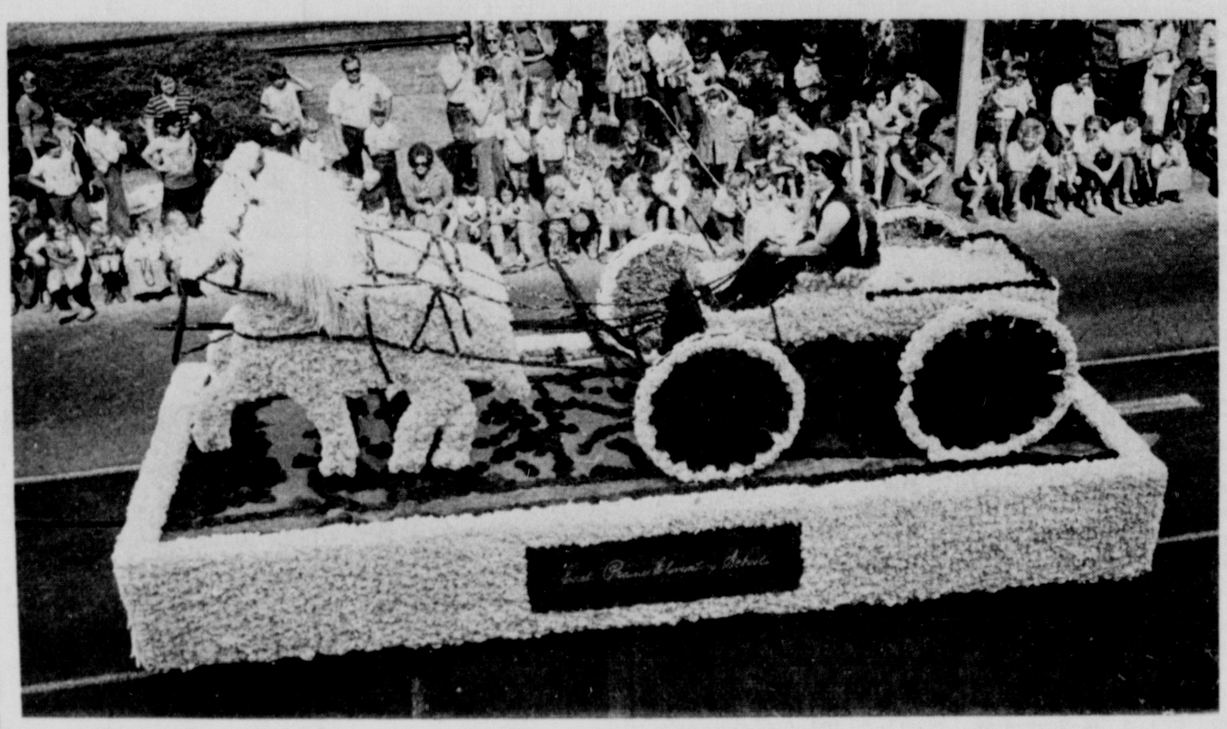

Lehr's main objection was that the state did not receive appraisals on the property the state was looking at until after a ten-day "cooling off" period had expired.

Cooper said he had been told of what the appraisals were before the period expired and that only actual physical receipt of the appraisals occurred after the deadline.

Policy gives additional funds to Sikeston schools

State Treasurer James I. Spainhower has announced that a policy he initiated shortly after taking office in 1973 has been expanded and will directly benefit the Sikeston R-6 School District.

The treasurer enacted early in his present term a system of wire-transferring state funds to and from banks where the state holds deposits. He says this modern procedure has earned the state millions of dollars in additinal interest.

Legislation supported by Spainhower and passed earlier this year by the Missouri General Assembly allows the state treasurer to transfer electronically quarterly distribution to the bank used by the Sikeston R-6 School District.

The latest wire-transfer to the Sikeston district Wednesday will mean several hundred dollars in additional funds for the school system. The wire-transfer system implemented by Spainhower replaces the previous system of mailing checks to the school district.

The Sikeston district received $741,539 through Wednesday's wire-transfer.

Spainghower says school districts taking advantage of the wire-transfer system will get their distribution payments one to three days earlier now, and will be able to invest those funds at interest that much sooner.

"This," he says, "will earn money which the school systems will be able to use to help meet the increased costs schools face during this period of high inflation."

Before the Missouri Legislature passed the law allowing the state treasurer to transfer school distribution payment in this manner, most school systems received their funds through the mail in the form of a check from the treasurer.

Schools which received larger sums from the School Foundation Program often sent a representative from their school district to Jefferson City to pick up the check when it was issued.

This allowed them to invest their monies sooner, but in many cases it required a long drive, considerable inconvenience and needless expense.

More than 450 attend Delta Center field day

PORTAGEVILLE–More than 450 farmers and other interested people attended this year's University of Missouri Delta Center field day, according to Center Supt. Charles F. Cromwell.

The field day tours, which were conducted on tractor-drawn wagons, visited various research projects on the center's Lee Farm, where the researchers conducting the studies explained their methods and the results. Studies were conducted on cotton, soybeans, sorghum, corn and wheat.

Located about seven miles southeast of Portageville, the Lee farm is a 666-acre farm with machinery sheds, a chemical storage and mixing building and shops.

Headquarters for the center is on the Marsh Farm, a 180-acre spread located one mile south of Portageville. This farm has the office and laboratory buildings and greenhouses.

The Cavanaugh Farm on the river bank has 75 acres of crop land.

All three farms were gifts of Margret Marsh and Matilda Cavanaugh and came from the DeWitt Clinton Lee estate.

Research reports included results of studies on cotton varieties, soybean seed tretament, foliar feeding of soybeans, battles against soybean pests, cotton growth regulators and foliar fungicides.

Tour guides also pointed out to the visitors the need for a higher cotton research checkoff tc replace federal funds no longer available.

According to the researchers, if cotton growers approve a bigger checkoff, the cotton industry will benefit by funding more of the kind of reserch growers want.

Delta Center staff members welcoming the visitors during the field day included Dr. C.H. Baldwin, Debbie Bonds, W. H. Boon, M. M. Cooper, H. F. DiCarlo, J. D. Garrett, L. F. Hand, Keith Harrendorf, D. R. Kelley, P. L. Kelley, Dr. H. D. Kerr, Kathryn Kinnard, E. L. Kowalski, E. B. Nace, G. H. Patton. Dr. M. E. Roof, J. A. Roth, C. M. Royster, Dr. W. P. Sappenfield, J. H. Scott, Dr. J. G. Shannon, R. D. Sheeley, L. G. Stokes and J. A. Wrather.

Other project leaders, based in Columbia but doing research at the center, include Dr. G. M. Chippendale, Dr. R. D. Horrocks, Dr. A. J. Keaster, Dr. V. N. Lambeth, Dr. C. W. Lobenstein, Dr. J. M. Poehman, Dr. M. S. Zuber, Dr. Dean Berry, Dr. Jack Wallen, and Dr. E. B. Lillehoj.

3 homes burglarized

Three homes were reported burglarized Friday, according to the Department of Public Safety.

Leonard Campbell, 1701 Kentucky Ave., reported the theft of a tool box and assorted items from a storage shed under his carport and from the inside of his home.

The theft occurred sometime during the last two weeks while he was out of town.

Barbara Ann Ivy, 306 Lee St., reported the theft of a red velvet bedspread, worth $25 and a cloth picture valued at $30 from her home between 12:26 p.m. and 1:26 p.m. Friday.

Police took a woman into custody in connection with the theft on information supplied by a neighbor.

Richard James 1010 Maude St., reported the theft of a 25-inch color television set sometime between 8 a.m. and 2:30 p.m. Friday. The set was valued at $200.

Entry to the house was gained by breaking out a glass window in the back door.

Today in U.S. history

By The Associated Press

Today is Monday, September 27, the 271st day of 1976. There are 95 days left in the year.

Today's highlight in history:

On this date in 1964, the Warren Commission issued its report concluding that Lee Harvey Oswald had acted alone in the assassination of President John Kennedy.

On this date:

In 1779, John Adams was named to negotiate Revolutionary War peace terms with Britain.

In 1825, in England, George Stephenson operated the first locomotive to haul a passenger train.

In 1904, a policeman in New York arrested a woman he had seen smoking a cigarette in a car on Fifth Avenue.

In 1939, during World War II, Warsaw, Poland was surrendered to the Germans after 19 days of heavy air raids and artillery bombardment.

In 1940, also during World War II, a pact was signed in Germany setting up the Berlin-Rome-Tokyo Axis.

In 1959, a typhoon that battered the Japanese island of Honshu killed nearly 5,000 people.

Ten years ago: Two U.S. Marine planes bombed a friendly village in South Vietnam by mistake, killing 28 mountain tribesmen.

Five years ago: President Richard Nixon and Emperor Hirohito of Japan met in Anchorage, Alaska. It was the first meeting between an American president and a Japanese Emperor.

One year ago: There was a storm of protest in Europe over the Spanish government's execution of five young political terrorists.

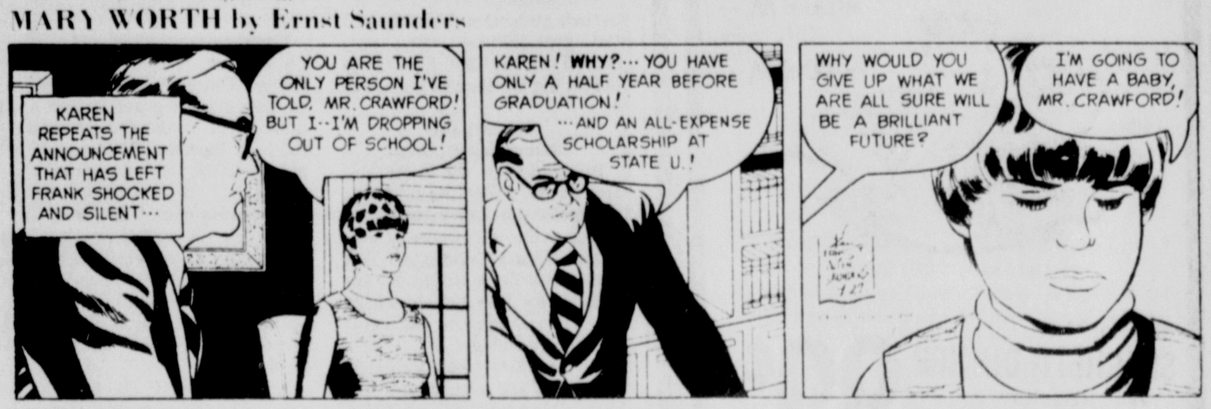

Today's birthday: Former movie star George Raft is 81.

Thought for today: The greater the power, the more dangerous the abuse. — Edmund Burke, British statesman, 1729-1797.

Hopkins to attend highway patrol academy

Mark Hopkins

PERRYVILLE— Mark H. Hopkins, formerly of Bloomfield and a member of the Perryville Police Department, is among officers from across the state who are scheduled to attend the Missouri State Highway Patrol Academy in Jefferson City. Hopkins, who left Sunday, will attend the academy for three weeks, and will receive extensive training in police procedures.

A 1973 graduate of Bloomfield High School, Hopkins is a senior at Southeast Missouri State University in Cape Girardeau majoring in law enforcement. He received an associate of arts degree in law enforcement in 1975. Prior to joining the Perryville force in June 1976, he was a member of the Cape Girardeau Police Reserves.

Hopkins is the son of Mrs. Arlene Hopkins of Bloomfield and Hestle Hopkins of Dexter. He and his wife, the former LouAnn Nelson of Bloomfield, have two children and live in Perryville.

Hetlage to head lawyers, judges state organization

ST. LOUIS — The board of governors of The Missouri Bar has named Robert O. Hetlage, a St. Louis attorney, president of the official state organization of Missouri lawyers and judges.

Hetlage, 44, succeeds Thomas D. Cochran, Independence, as head of the 10,000-member legal organization.

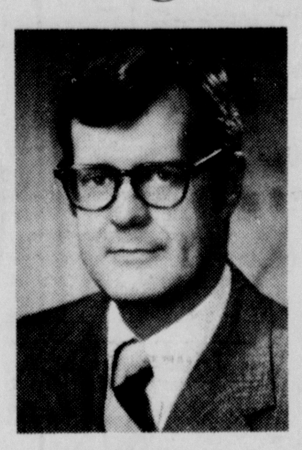

The election took place at the 97th annual meeting of The Missouri Bar which ended Friday at Stouffer's Riverfront Inn.

Named president-elect of The Missouri Bar was John R. Gibson, Kansas City. Bertram W. Tremayne Jr. of Clayton was elected vice-president.

The new bar president is a member of the St. Louis law firm of Peper, Martin, Jensen, Maichel & Hetlage. He is a past president of the Bar Association of Metropolitan St. Louis and has served as a member of the House of Delegates of the American Bar Associationsince 1973.

He has also served as a member of the board of governors of The Missouri Bar in 1968, 1972 and 1973 and as a member of its executive committee in 1974, 1975 and 1976. In 1976 he was named president-elect of the association.

A graduate of Washington University School of law in 1954, Hetlage also received a mast of law degree from George Washington University at

Robert O. Hetlage

Washington, D.C., in 1957. He is a member of the Order of the Coif and served as managing editor of the Law Review while in law school.

Hetlage has also served as president of the St. Louis Council on World Affairs (1966-1967), the Washington University Alumni Club (1972-1973)) and the John Marshall Club (1974). He was a member of the Washington University Alumni Club board of governors from 1972 to 1974.

On the national level, he served as chairman of the American Bar Association Standing Committee on Unauthorized Practice of Law, as a council member of its real property and probate and trust law section and as a member of the council of the Junior Bar Section.

The new bar president and his wife, Anne, have three children.

Gibson, the new president-elect of The Missouri Bar, is a member of the Kansas City law firm of Morrison, Hecker, Curtis, Kuder & Parrish.

He is a native of Springfield and a 1952 graduate of the University of Missouri-Columbia School of Law.

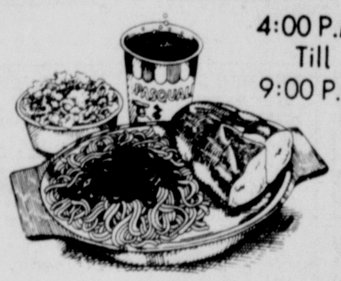

He is a past president of the Kansas City Bar Association (1970)1971) and has been a member of the board of governors of The Missouri Bar since 1972. Last year, he was named vice president of The Missouri Bar and served as a member of its executive committee.

Tremayne, the newly elected vice -president, is a member of the Clayton law firm of Tremayne, Lay, Carr —and Bauer. He has been a member of the board of governors since 1973.

Board members elected to serve one-year terms as members of the executive committee, in addition to the above officers, were:

Stephen N. Limbaugh of Cape Girardeau; P. Pierre Dominique and Wade F. Baker of Jefferson City and Meredith B. Turner of Springfield.

By Lawrence E. Lamb, M.D.

DEAR DR. LAMB — A few years ago I had a hysterectomy and have been taking a pill called Premarin ever since. I was told I would have to take them for as long as I live. I'm now 35 years old. I would like to know why I should keep taking this pill and if I stop taking it what effect it would have on me?

Recently a doctor's nurse told me she had the same operation and has not taken any medicine since. It appears some doctors believe it should be taken and others believe the opposite. One doctor told me it would keep me younger looking. Is this so? I know many women would like an answer about this pill. No one seems to know much about it yet millions are taking it.

DEAR READER — Premarin is a mixture of various fractions of the female hormone, estrogen. It is normally used to replace estrogens if a woman is low in female hormones.

During a hysterectomy a doctor may remove the ovaries, depending upon the case. If he does so in a young woman she will have an early menopause. Estrogens are given to replace her normal hormone production. Even if the ovaries are not removed, the blood supply to them may be damaged during surgery and they may not continue to function as well as before.

Now there are variations in the need for the hormones. If a woman's adrenal cortex — the little gland over both kidneys — produces enough female hormones a woman may not have too much difficulty. Some women don't have this source of hormones to fall back on and don't produce enough.

The same situation applies to a woman when she goes through the menopause, or better stated, when her ovaries normally degenerate and stop functioning. If she produces enough hormones from other sources she may not have many changes but if she is not so fortunate then she will undergo changes associated with the menopause.

The estrogen hormones will help a woman who needs them for replacement in a number of respects. They help prevent changes in the cells of the vagina. They help prevent cellular changes in part of the bladder that often lead to recurrent bladder infections. The hormones prevent hot flashes. The rest of the benefits of female hormones is a subject for debate. Some claim they help prevent heart disease and perhaps degeneration of the bones.

The dangers are associated with an increased risk of cancer of the lining of the uterus that I have spoken of before. If you have had a hysterectomy as you have that is not a consideration.

Estrogen hormones are not advisable in patients who have epilepsy, migraines, asthma, cardiac or kidney diseases or other disease associated with an accumulation of fluid. The hormones cause the body to retain sodium just as the natural ones do.

In young women such as you, if there is no major reason against taking the medicine it is usually better to take it after a hysterectomy if the ovaries are removed or damaged.

Those interested in more information about female hormones can send 50 cents for The Health Letter number 5-12, Menopause. Send a long, stamped, self-addressed envelope for mailing. Address your letter to Dr. Lamb in care of this newspaper, P.O. Box 1551, Radio City Station, New York, NY 10019.

Campaign law is still in effect

Candidates who think the campaign finance law is gone had better think again.

Cole County Circuit Judge Byron Kinder ruled the 1974 law unconstitutional last week but then withdrew a little to allow the law to remain in effect for the general election while the constitutionality of it is being appealed.

Kinder refused to withdraw his injunction stopping any public official from enforcing the law, but Anne Forry, executive director of the Missouri Elections Commission, says if the law is held to be constitutional they will enforce the law against those who did not file reports or otherwise violated the law while the appeal was in progress.

AUTUMN
by Dorothy E. Guess

The autumn season enters in
as summer slips away.
Leaves begin to curl and turn
for the coming fall array.

Roses shatter sadly,
and lilies go to rest,
falling over quietly
in the mousy colored grass.

Gardens lose their dignity,
as plants die one by one,
Leaving only memories
of their fruitfulness, long gone.

Days grow quietly shorter,
Leaving time for dusky walks,
in leaves that crunch beneath your feet
as Mother Nature "talks".

Until the gray of winter,
one seldom ever notes . . .
that autumn came and stole away,
beneath her colored coats.

Candidates should report finances during law appeal

By LAURA PATRICK
Missouri Press News

JEFFERSON CITY — Candidates in the Nov. 2 general election will still be required to report their campaign contributions and expenditures, despite a ruling that the Missouri Campaign Finance and Disclosure Law is unconstitutional.

Cole County Circuit Judge Byron Kinder will allow the campaign reporting law to remain in effect while its constitutionality is being appealed.

Kinder would not revoke, however, his injunction prohibiting the Missouri Elections Commission or the Attorney General's office from filing civil or criminal suits against persons accused of violating the law.

Anne Forry, elections commission executive director, said investigators will continue to scrutinize campaign finance reports during the appeal process.

"We're convinced that parts of the law are constitutional," she said. "If they (the candidates) don't file and the law is declared constitutional, they're going to be in trouble."

Should the entire law be reinstated, penalties for persons convicted for refusing to file or for submitting incomplete or inaccurate information include a maximum fine of $5,000 and/or a county jail sentence of up to one year. A person found guilty of making an illegal campaign contribution could be fined a sum equal to the amount of the illegal contribution.

Under the law a court which found that a successful candidate had "willfully violated" any of the disclosure requirements could declare the election results void and ask the governor to call a special election.

Sales, production of aerosols down as the controversy spreads

By LOUISE COOK
Associated Press Writer

Scientists say more time is needed to determine the degree of danger posed by fluorocarbons in aerosols, but some consumers, legislators and manufacturers already have decided they'd rather switch than study.

Production of fluorocarbons has decreased. Sales of aerosols are down — partly because of the controversy and partly because of the recession. Two states have passed laws regulating fluorocarbons in spray cans. And a government official has recommended that consumers stop using aerosols and switch to spray pumps or roll-ons instead.

A long-awaited report by the National Academy of Sciences was released earlier this month. The group concluded that "selective regulation of fluorocarbon uses and releases is almost certain to be necessary at some time...." It also said, however, that "neither the needed time nor the needed severity can be reasonably specified today."

The academy recommended further study — for a maximum of two years — before regulatory action is taken. Meanwhile, it said, aerosols that do contain fluorocarbons as propellants should be clearly labeled as such so that consumers can decide whether to use the items.

Over half of the fluorocarbons produced in the United States are used as propellants, primarily in personal grooming products such as deodorant and hair spray. The arguments have centered on these fluorocarbons — rather than the ones used as refrigerants and in manufacturing — because they are the ones that are released into the atmosphere immediately.

Scientists have said that fluorocarbons weaken the layer of ozone that surrounds the earth and is a primary shield against ultraviolet radiation which causes skin cancer.

The question still to be answered is how severely and how rapidly the ozone is being depleted.

The Chemical Specialties Manufacturers Association said 1975 sales of aerosols were about 10 to 15 per cent lower than a year earlier, although Gus Fromuth, associate director of the group, said part of the drop was due to the recession. "People were not buying discretionary products," he said.

Some manufacturers of grooming products have been pushing other finger-driven pump sprays and roll-ons as cheaper, nonaerosol alternatives. The market research firm of Towne-Oller said a study showed that nonaerosols had a 23.5 per cent share of the women's hair spray market in dollar terms in the last quarter of 1975, up from only 4 per cent in 1973.

Bills on fluorocarbons have been introduced in about a dozen states, but only two states have acted — Oregon, which will ban fluorocarbons as aerosol propellants effective March 1, and New York, which is requiring labeling, starting next year, to the effect that fluorocarbons in spray cans may be harmful to the environment.

Sen. James B. Pearson, R-Kan., has introduced legislation in Congress requiring a similar warning label, but there is no time for action on the measure this year.

4 planes crash in 6 hours

Air Force investigates jet wreckage

By The Associated Press

Air Force investigators examined the wreckage of a jet tanker today, trying to find the cause of a fiery crash that left 15 airmen dead and five injured. It was the worst of four plane crashes within six hours that killed a total of 35.

The tanker, used by the Strategic Air Command for air to air refueling, crashed in a rugged marshy area in an isolated section of northern Lower Michigan, 12 miles southwest of Alpena.

An eyewitness, Elmer Liske of Hubbard Lake, said the tanker went down suddenly. "It blew up, and I saw a big ball of fire," Liske said. "And then it exploded several more times."

The crashes Sunday in four states left at least 15 children orphaned — children of the four Johnson & Johnson subsidiaries' officials who died with their wives in a crash at Hot Springs, Va. Three crew members aboard the company-owned jet also were killed.

In Colorado, a lawyer and his wife returning to Denver from a meeting at a summer and ski resort in Steamboat Springs were among six persons killed in the crash of a twin-engine Aztec Piper which slammed into two propane fuel storage tanks and burst into flames.

And three persons died in Illinois when their single-engine aircraft plunged into the Illinois River near Peoria.

Air Force officials said there were five survivors of the crash of the KC135 tanker jet which went down near Alpena, Mich., sometime after 8:30 a.m. Sunday. That's when Wurtsmith Air Force Base last had radar and radio contact with the pilot.

Two majors, nine captains, two lieutenants and two sergeants died.

Three captains and a lieutenant from Kincheloe AFB and an airman 1st class from K.I. Sawyer AFB were admitted to Alpena General Hospital.

Four later were flown to Brooks Medical Center near San Antonio, Tex., for treatment for burns. All were listed in very stable condition today.

The fifth was released from the Alpena hospital early today, and Air Force officials said he would be a member of the accident investigation board.

The plane, carrying five crew members and 15 passengers, ripped a swath 50 yards wide and half a mile long before crashing into a swamp a mile from the nearest road, witnesses said. The largest remaining recognizable part of the aircraft, the military equivalent of a Boeing 707, was a 20-foot section of tail structure.

Survivors were airlifted to the hospital, and the 15 bodies were evacuated to a temporary morgue set up in the same building.

Capt. Charles Pinkard of Wurtsmith, near the crash site in Lower Michigan, said the jet was en route from K.I. Sawyer in the Upper Peninsula to Offutt AFB, Neb., with a stopover at Kincheloe.

He said most of the victims were scheduled to participate in a special training program at Strategic Air Command headquarters.

At Ingalls Field in Hot Springs, the wreckage of the Grumman Gulfstream II jet owned by Johnson & Johnson of New Brunswick, N.J., was spotted by helicopter about 1 p.m. The plane, carrying Johnson subsidiaries officials and their wives from Trenton, N.J., to a Pharmaceutical Manufacturing Association meeting at the Homestead Hotel, plunged into a fog-shrouded mountain ravine and caught fire about 500 feet below the runway.

The spokesman for the NTSB team dispatched to investigate the crash said early today that the pilot apparently made two passes at the runway before the crash.

Dennis Sutton, a Civil Air Patrol member who was the first at the scene, said the plane erupted in fire on impact — "It was totaled, burned. Everything was gone."

It was at about the same time that a twin-engine plane carrying Don R. Evans, partner in the Denver law firm of Yegge, Hall and Evans, and his wife struck two propane fuel storage tanks shortly after takeoff from the Steamboat Springs, Colo., airport.

izations and has denounced the Syrian role in Lebanon.

But in Beirut, a spokesman for the Palestine Liberation Organization (PLO), the Palestinian umbrella group headed by Yasir Arafat, denied that any PLO members were responsible. Arafat also heads Al Fatah, which is considered to be less radical than some Palestinian guerrilla units.

A Syrian government statement said the four hostages who died Sunday were killed by the terrorists. Three of the slain hostages were women, and witnesses said all were Arabs. Three Americans were reported in the hotel at the time and one, National Broadcasting Corp. assistant producer Robert Castenbach, was taken hostage but was unharmed, the U.S. Embassy said.

The Salcedo Road railroad crossing will be closed Tuesday and Wednesday while repairs are being made to the crossing, the city manager's office announced today.

Reagan says Ford had 'edge' on Carter in the first presidential debate

ST. LOUIS (AP) — If he accomplished one thing in his visit to Missouri this weekend, Ronald Reagan found that many Republicans had not forgotten his last visit to the state.

A Reagan far more relaxed than the man who lost the presidential bid to Gerald Ford last month at the Republican National Convention in Kansas City wasn't drumming up personal support this time.

In visits to Springfield Friday night and St. Louis on Saturday, the former California governor campaigned for state candidates and offered opinions on the two parties' platforms, the Ford-Carter debate and other matters.

Ford had "an edge" on Democrat Jimmy Carter in the first debate, Reagan claimed during both stops. And in St. Louis, he charged that the economic policies in the Democratic Party platform are "shockingly similar to Benito Mussolini's facism."

Reagan helped fashion the Republican platform.

Under the Humphrey-Hawkins "full-employment" bill and other Democratic programs, he said, "The federal government would dictate where you are going to work, how you are going to work, how much you're going to be paid and where your product can be sold."

Nowhere was the feeling of nostalgia for the former candidate stronger than in Springfield, scene of the state GOP convention in June in which he won 18 of 19 at-large state delegates to the national convention.

Every Republican candidate on the state ticket attended.

Atty. Gen. John Danforth, who is running for U.S. Senate, quipped, "The last time I saw Gov. Reagan, I was in this room. I was one of 38 candidates for 19 delegate positions at the Republican national convention...I really hope that that's the last election I will lose this year, and I promise you that it's the last election ever in which I'll finish 21st."

One of the plastic horns so evident at the Republican national convention groaned its approval whenever Reagan was applauded. And when he got up to speak, a bannaer was unfurled that said, "President Reagan 1980."

Reagan's appearance at a $50-a-ticket fund-raising dinner for John D. Ashcroft, candidate for attorney general, attracted more than 1,000 persons and was expected to net $38,000 for Ashcroft. Reagan was paid his standard fee of $5,000 plus $1,000 in travel expenses for himself and two aides.

Reagan appeared before 100 persons in St. Louis at a Lambert Field rally for Albert L. Kemp, state treasurer candidate. Walking through the airport concourse to a waiting car, he was applauded by passengers waiting for flights.

Reagan attended a private luncheon for Kemp before returning to California.

Inquest is ruled in the drowning of 4

BOLIVAR, Mo. (AP) — A coroner's inquest has been scheduled Tuesday into the deaths of a woman and her three young children, who apparently drowned when their car ran down a boat ramp into Pomme de Terre Lake.

Sheriff Glen P. Carson of Polk County said today he was continuing his investigation into the deaths because of varying reports on how the accident occurred.

Killed about midnight Friday were Nancy Myers Wylie, 36; her 3-year-old son, Richard Wylie, and her 8-year-old twins from a previous marriage, Karen and Kevin Myers. They lived in Humansville.

Their car reportedly rolled forward down a boat ramp at the lake, about 45 miles north of Springfield. The sheriff said Mrs. Wylie's husband, Jeffery Wylie, 30, told him the woman bumped his elbow and caused him to lose control of the car. Carson said Wylie also told him the brakes on the car failed.

A diver who located the vehicle told authorities he found the front door on the driver's side open, the ignition key on the dashboard and the automatic gearshift in the park position.

Carson said Wylie told him he got out of the car after it went into the water and swam to shore.

Bell employes helped in FBI wiretaps

CHARLOTTE, N.C. (AP) — Bell Telephone Co. employes did the wiring for FBI wiretaps and cooperated with the FBI for more than 30 years in setting up wiretaps without court orders, the Charlotte Observer reported today.

The Observer said these wiretaps were put on the private telephone lines of such people as Dr. Martin Luther King Jr., Muhammad Ali and Dr. Morton Halperin.

The newspaper said it based its information on unnamed sources and statements by retired Bell official Horace Hampton. Hampton testified earlier this year in a lawsuit against Bell filed by Halperin, a former aide to Secretary of State Henry Kissinger at the National Security Council.

Hampton, who worked for Bell in Washington until 1971, testified that for more than 23 years he personally supervised at the FBI's request the hooking up of direct lines from an FBI listening post to private telephones in the Washington area, the paper said.

It said the taps were done under a law which allows the president or his designate to authorize wiretaps without a court order.

The Bell System, meanwile, insists the company itself never wiretapped anyone.

"All we're providing is the electrical path between two points which have to be connected in order to overhear the conversation by a third person," H.W. William Caming, a Bell lawyer, told the Observer.

Bell officials testifed in June before the House Commerce subcommittee that Bell employes who connected the FBI national security wiretaps did not have national security clearance. The officials said the employes were unaware they were installing wiretap connections, the Observer said.

The paper said in its Sunday editions that Bell employes across the nation have legally listened in on thousands of private telephone calls as part of their jobs.

"All our plant repairmen at anytime can overhear any call in the United States in their area, fully, and every operator (can) to some extent," Caming told the paper.

Litton memorial is announced by Future Farmers

KANSAS CITY (AP) — A memorial to the late Rep. Jerry Litton, D-Mo., was announced today by the Future Farmers of America and the Agricultural Hall of Fame at nearby Bonner Springs, Kan.

They announced at a news conference today that a color portrait of Litton, a former national secretary of the FFA, would be presented at the national FFA convention in Kansas City Nov. 10 and would be a permanent memorial at the agricultural hall.

Litton, his wife, their two childen and two others were killed Aug. 3 when their plane crashed on takeoff from the Chillicothe airport on a flight to Kansas City. They were planning to celebrate Litton's victory in the Democratic primary for the U.S. Senate.

"As a member of Congress, Jerry Litton initiated and supported legislation beneficial to American agriculture. He was looked upon as the political voice of the agricultural community," Charles B. Jennings, chairman of agribusiness activities of the Chamber of Commerce of Greater Kansas City, said at a news conference today.

Pemiscott sheriff's wife files suit to determine remarriage

CARUTHERSVILLE — Mrs. Jessie M. Shelly, wife of Pemiscot Sheriff Thad O. Shelly for the past 28 years, has filed a separate maintenance suit against him, seeking to determine if he has remarried. She claims he has not divorced her.

Ouster proceedings were filed against the southeast Missouri sheriff earlier last week charging him with six counts of violating the state law in connection with alleged irregularities in his office.

Shelly has refused to answer questions about his marital troubles "because it's my own private business."

However, the former Betty Richardson, who now lives in a Caruthersville apartment with Shelly, told a reporter she is married to the sheriff but refuses to say when they were married.

"It's a secret date," she said.

Mrs. Jessie Shelly said Shelly left their home in Hayti on or about Aug. 11, according to a petition filed in Pemiscot County Circuit Court. They were married Dec. 31, 1947.

She said she has never consented to a separation. A list of interrogations attached to the petitions seeks to determine if Shelly has married again and if he has transferred property or insurance policies to Betty Richardson. Jessie Shelly is seeking $750 a month in support for her and a 15- year-old son, Phillip Lane.

In an earlier interview with a St. Louis newspaper Shelly said he lives with the former Betty Richardson in a Caruthersville apartment "and everything's legal." But he refused to say when and where he got divorced or remarried.

Shelly's half brother, Martin Ray, said he knows of no divorce from the first Mrs. Shelly.

Shelly recently won renomination on the Democratic Party ticket for another four-year term. He faces token Republican opposition in the Nov. 2 general election. He denies any wrongdoing.

He became sheriff in 1971 as a reformer after former Sheriff Clyde Orton was ousted for misconduct in office.

The ouster proceeding against Shelly stemmed from alleged failure to turn over all of the fees he has collected, failing to enforce gambling laws and several lesser charges.

He is the subject of an investigation by Prosecuting Attorney Mike Hazel, the Missouri Highway Patrol and the state auditor's office.
